REPUBLICANS PREPARE FOR ATTACK.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—That the Republicans believe the tariff will be the issue in the Congressional elections of next year is evidence by the fact that two and one-half million copies of the tariff speeches delivered in the house have been ordered by the members. The Democrats are contending that the Payne bill is not a revision of the tariff as promised.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF AS CHILDREN LOOK ON.

NEW YORK, May 6—Charles Stelzman, a machinist employed by the Consumers Brewing Co., killed his wife and himself to-day in the presence of their two children, at his home, No. 201 East 96th street. The man shot his wife through the head as she was trying to leap from a window.

SHOT IN HEAD, BULLET IN FOOT.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 6.—A bullet lodged in the head of Elizabeth Farragher 14 years ago was found in one of the woman's feet. The bullet never caused her the least pain.

60 AND 72 COURT AND WED IN A DAY.

WATSONVILLE, Cal., May 6.—Love at first sight is not confined to youth, judging by the romance that has culminated in the marriage of Miss Emma Higbee, 60 years old, and David J. Kemp, 72, the couple having accomplished the whole courtship from introduction to housekeeping in less than 24 hours.

MINISTER IDE SAILS FOR SPAIN.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Henry C. Ide, U. S. Minister to Spain, sailed to-day on the French line steamship La Lorraine, accompanied by his daughter. Miss Ide is a strikingly beautiful girl of twenty and will be a belle of the Spanish capitol. She is a sister-in-law of W. Bourke Cockran.

"HOW I WAS KIDNAPPED"

Told in Court by Willie Whitla.

MERCER, Pa., May 6.—The ringing of the courthouse bell today summoned a vast throng to the trial of James F. Boyle on a charge of kidnapping Willie Whitla. The Whitla party in court included Mr. and Mrs. Whitla, Willie Whitla, Salina Whitla, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Buhl and John Forker.

When the doors were opened there was a fierce rush to gain admission to the building. There were many women in the crowd and several narrowly escaped being crushed.

Boyle was brought over from the jail in charge of Sheriff Chess and two deputies.

Boyle Pleads Not Guilty.

After the formal opening Boyle entered a plea of not guilty.

The jury, which was selected yesterday, was then sworn. District Attorney Corbrane made the opening address to the jury, in which he briefly recited the facts of the case and detailed the journey of Boyle and the boy from Sharon to Warren, O., thence to Niles and Ashtabula and finally to Cleveland, and asked for a verdict of guilty.

The first witness called was Willie Whitla, the kidnapped boy. He walked to the witness stand with a quick step and was smiling.

Before the oath was administered Attorney Q. A. Gordon for the prosecution questioned Willie about the date of school and him where boys went who did not tell the truth.

"They go to hell," replied Willie in a clear voice.

The oath was then administered.

In the examination by Attorney Gordon he told of a man calling at the school one day and of his being called by his teacher, Miss Lewis, to go to the front door. There was a man at the front door and a buggy standing nearby.

"That Is the Man."

Asked if he could identify this man, he pointed to Boyle and said: "That is the man."

Q.—Did he tell you his name? A.—Yes.

Q.—What was it? A.—Mr. Jones.

Q.—What else did he say? A.—That he had been sent to take me and two other boys away on account of smallpox and that I might meet my companions on the train.

Q.—Did he have a letter? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did he do? A.—He asked me to write my mother's name and address on it.

Q.—What did you write? A.—I wrote Mrs. Grace P. Whitla, Sharon, Pa. I wrote it with a pencil and the man mailed it in a letter box in Hall street, Sharon.

Q.—Did the defendant look at that time the same as he does now? A.—He had his whiskers here (pointing to his upper lip).

Boy Tells of Ride.

The boy described the drive with Boyle to Warren and the ride to Niles. He said sometimes he would sit on the seat with the defendant and sometimes in the bottom of the buggy as he was afraid they would meet the doctors and that they would take him to the pest house.

At Warren Jones left the boy in a barbershop while he was shaved. Abner Hancock, a barber at Niles, Ohio, was following Friday while eating breakfast someone knocked at the door and he ran to his sibling hole. He told of leaving the Cleveland house an hour later and of Jones giving him a note with instructions to go to the Hollenden House, and in case he forgot the address to give up the note.

He said he had written to Mrs. Buhl, his aunt, and to his father and mother while in the Cleveland room. He identified the three letters that had been sent to his mother and father by Jones, one of the boy was still alive during the days of his absence.

The cross-examination was very brief, and the line of it indicated that the defence will be an alibi.

HIT ON THE HEAD BY FALLING IRON

David Leary, at work to-day on a building on Jackson street, Charlestown, was carried to the Relief Hospital in an ambulance suffering from a scalp wound. He was hit on the head by a piece of granite which accidentally dropped from an upper story. Leary, twenty-five years old and single, lives at No. 8 Cook street, Charlestown.

President's Son Dressed as a Girl

Charlie Taft as Eva Webster, in "The Private Secretary."

WATERBURY, Ct., May 6.—The performances of "The Private Secretary," by the Taft Dramatic Association, has left the praises of all the boys who took part in it on all lips. Interest centred on Charles P. Taft, son of the President, who took the part of Eva Webster.

Others who are worthy of special mention were Mrs. Stead, impersonated by Ralph Wolf, of Brooklyn; Edith Marsland, who was Thomas Corbin, of Chicago, and Miss Ashford, who had already won fame from the genius of William Fenolmore Cooper, of Albany.

Charlie Taft took the part rather to heart in a genuine sincerity, as though his entire college course depended on his success. The part was far too old a one for the youngster, but he made a hit. No one enjoyed the raillery he got more than the action of the house of Taft, and at the end no one had accumulated more fresh experience and good humor.

Charles H. Ward, official theatrical instructor, is loud in praise of the boys, and so several Yale dramatic clubmen who came to see the production.

JUST LIKE THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

Old Sun,
We welcome you!
For what you've done,
Or failed to do,
In the past month or two,
We're ready to
Forgive as fun,
Forgetfulness or fancies new.
Old Sun!
But we contend
'Tis square,
And only fair,
For you to lend
Your ways, and tend
The job henceforth, Old Friend.
We will not care
If you don't spend
Too much strength on it; don't flare
Up and make us swear,
But condescend
To hang around more steady like, and lend
Us your smile. Comprehend,
Old Friend?

It's warm to-day, and it's about time it was, too.

After weeks of alternate chill and drizzle and drizzle and chill, Greater Boston mentally perspired to-day while the mercury climbed as though it was ruining a Marathon race up the thermometer tube.

The heat jumped twenty degrees in five hours. At 8 a. m. the temperature was 60 above. At 9 o'clock it was 63. It jumped ten degrees in the next hour and was up to 80 degrees when people got back to work at 1 o'clock after the noon hour.

It will be cooler to-night and showers, says the Weather Man. He looks for moderate weather now for a few days to come. The local forecast is:

"Fairly cloudy to cloudy, with scattering showers to-night and Friday. Slightly cooler to-night. Light, variable winds."

It is generally warm throughout the country to-day. When it was 60 above at 8 a. m. in Boston to-day it was 62 at Hartford and Providence, Greenville, Me., was the coolest place on the Stars and Stripes, with a temperature of 40.

Boston took immediate advantage of the warm wave. Toward afternoon women shoppers came out in new Spring suits, the lightest of hats and the gauziest of new waists. The new Dutch collar was quite acceptable to the warm spell, leaving the fair wearer's throat exposed as it did.

MINISTERS USE LADDER TO SPY

How two Seventh Day Adventists ministers and Policeman Abbott H. Adams, perched on a long ladder, had kept watch on the house for two weeks, was to-day testified to in the East Cambridge Divorce Court before Judge Hardy in the second day's trial of the suit for divorce brought by Owen F. Ellis against his wife, Mrs. Mary D. Ellis. Ellis, in his libel for divorce, names the Rev. Mr. Scatterger. The story told by the clergymen when they came down caused the divorce suit.

Until last Summer the Ellises lived in a flat mansion in Waltham street, West Newton. Ellis, his wife says, is worth $30,000. Mrs. Ellis's home before her marriage was West Kennebunk, Me. Ellis is a foreigner. The wife is thirty-nine. The young clergyman named in the suit is twenty-five. The suit is contested and Mrs. Ellis to-day denied every charge against her and accused her husband of cruel treatment.

Rev. Mr. Scatterager was a Bible reader and missionary for the Seventh Day Adventists Church during teat revival services last July in West Newton.

The Ellises attended the services and Mr. Ellis invited the young minister to his house on his guest. Later he became suspicious and tried to make him leave the house, so he testified.

On August 10 last the wife secured a writ of attachment for her husband in the Waltham Hospital for the Insane. She claimed that Mr. Ellis's charges against her were hallucinations. Two West Newton police secured the release of Mr. Ellis from Westboro and the suit against his wife was filed.

A deposition from Elder Keitring was read to-day in court. The Elder is the president of the Seventists in Massachusetts. He said: "I dismissed Scatterager from the work because of his persisting in remaining at the Ellis house after Brother Jones said I had ordered him to leave." Elder Keitring also told of watching the house on the ledder.

SOUTH END GROUNDS, May 7.—The first largish day of the year could not have had a better setting so far as weather conditions were concerned and the fans hustled out to pack the warm bleachers at the noon hour, rather luncheon on the hop.

Such a double event as the Giants, even if they were down pretty low, was too good an attraction to overlook, and the rush was further accounted for as it was the first appearance of the Doves back home since their successful trip along the coast.

It was a grand welcome accorded Mike Bowerman and his diamond fighters as they trotted on to the field to get the machinery going which spelled the Giants' doom.

Fred Tenney, the former Hub star, who still had a small bit of good feeling for his teammates, handed the Giants in the absence of Scrappy McGraw, and it was quite evident that Fred was out to make good in his new position leading the crippled Giants.

"HE CAN'T GO TO-DAY; WE'VE TRIMMED HIM"

At this afternoon's session of the trial of Murdock C. MacGregor and Roderick O'Reilly, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Richard F. Mitchell, Edgar L. Clark, an attendant at Pierce Farm, said that on March 10, he was sent to ward 8 for the purpose of taking the patients out for a walk, and that he saw Mitchell sitting in a chair with his hands on his chest, and that he was muttering to himself.

"I asked MacKenzie if Mitchell was going out for a walk," Clark testified, and he replied "no, he can't go out for a walk; we gave him a trimming."

Dr. L. Burnham Briggs, who was a spectator in the courtroom during the trial yesterday, was called to the stand by District Attorney Hill. Dr. Briggs testified to a conversation between himself and him at the conclusion of O'Reilly's examination yesterday. He asked O'Reilly if he had told all he knew about the case."

Dr. Briggs stated, "and O'Reilly replied: 'I thought it would be kind of mean to tell all I knew.'"

Everett F. Avery, an attendant at Pierce Farm, testified that on March 16 he had had trouble with Mitchell and that Mitchell picked up a knife and said, "I'll kill one of you fellows yet." Avery testified that after this remark there was a scuffle and that an attempt was made to subdue mitchell, and that in the course of the struggle Mitchell threw a knife at Avery and struck him in the head.

NEW THOUGHT SOON TO OPEN CONVENTION

The convention of the National New Thought Alliance will open in Chickering Hall, No. 239 Huntington avenue, tomorrow night and continue Saturday and Sunday. They will be open to the public. Among the speakers will be Rev. Henry Frank of New York, Rev. Stephen H. Robins, Rev. C. P. Girard, Rollin Lynde Hartt, Charles Fleischer, Floyd B. Wilson and Ella B. Wood. A call has been issued by Dr. Warren A. Rodman, Susie C. Clarke, Dr. Lewis F. Hartz, Rev. Ward Beecher, W. A. Spinney, Rev. Lucy C. Mercier, Mrs. J. Emma and James F. Edgerton of New York, and Rev. Drew T. Van Doren of Norwalk, Conn.

NO LIVES LOST IN OKLAHOMA STORM

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 6.—There was no loss of life nor serious damage to property in the storm that swept Ardmore, Okla., last night, according to information received here to-day. A heavy wind demolished wire communication for several hours, and the report spread that the town had been destroyed. A Muskogee dispatch to-day said that a tornado had swept Carter County, and that Ardmore, a city of 15,000, had been devastated.

CONVICT CAPTAIN AS A SMUGGLER

NEW YORK, May 6.—Maurice Bernier, second captain of the French liner La Savoie, was found guilty to-day in the criminal branch of the United States Circuit Court of smuggling. The jury recommended the defendant to the clemency of the court. The maximum penalty is two years' sentence and $10,000 fine.

EVELYN THAW MAY BE JAILED

NEW YORK, May 6.—"There is no alternative; if it is either $500 or jail, I must go to jail."

Thus spoke Mrs. Florence Evelyn Thaw, wife of Harry Thaw, to-day, to declared herself broke after her contempt case had been appealed by lawyer Ivan O'Reilly.

Mrs. Thaw was to have appeared in City Court to-day to pay a fine of $250 or go to jail for contempt. The appeal stayed the cruel jail sentence.

Mrs. Thaw declared that she was getting tired of her husband's dilatory methods in supporting her. Sometimes she did not receive one penny from him for three days. The Thaw family will have to do better pretty soon or—and she shook her head in a very menacing manner.

Unless Mrs. Thaw appears before City Court Justice McAvoy within five days and pays a fine of $250 imposed by him for her failure to appear in supplementary proceedings, she will be sent to jail. The alternative was given her this afternoon by the Appelate Division of the Supreme Court, when it denied her application for a stay of proceedings in the case.

NO SECRECY FOR MR. EMERSON

Superintendent of Streets Emerson today formally refused to go before the committee of the Common Council, which is investigating the street lighting contract, unless the hearing is open to the public.

The superintendent's refusal was contained in a letter to John F. Dever, chairman of committees, in which Mr. Emerson says:

"You are respectfully informed that I am very willing to appear before this committee upon receiving assurance that the hearing will be entirely public. In taking this action, I do not intend any disrespect to the committee, or to imply any doubt as to the perfect fairness and impartiality of its investigation. There has, however, been a good deal of comment on the part of some persons that connected with the city administration in awarding this contract with as little publicity as possible, and I do not wish to further such an impression.

"The committee, it is understood, will make arrangements to have a public hearing next Tuesday which Mr. Emerson will attend.

ROOSEVELT WARNS JAPAN

NEW YORK, May 6.—Ex-President Roosevelt, in this week's issue of the Outlook, warns Japan that America will have to take the matter into its own hands if the Mikado does not prevent the coming blither in any appreciable numbers of Japanese of the laboring and coal itrading classes.

He says it is the duty of America to wait to see whether Japan succeeds in enforcing this policy, whether or not he believe that it will be successful. But he adds:

"If the Japanese Government proves unable to carry its policy through, then undoubtedly this Government, by treaty or by legislation, must protect its interests and secure the desired result on its own initiative.

"But in such a case it would be doubly incumbent upon us to take the action in the way that would provoke the least friction and cause least possible hard feeling."

We have the right to say, for instance, what immigrants shall come to our own shores, but we are powerless to enforce the right against any nation that chooses to disregard our wishes, unless we continue to build up and maintain a first-class fighting navy.

The AMERICAN is Boston's great home paper.

BASEBALL GROUNDS, New York, May 6.—The Yankees were out for some more revenge when they faced the Red Sox in the second game on the local heights. The Highlanders were game to the core in the opening contest of the series and gave every indication of continuing to play the same kind of diamond goods for the remainder of the visit of the Boston team.

The fans seemed trouble for their pets after the hard reside the two teams had yesterday, and the home talent was not being boosted any too strong as the fa vorites. The fast-traveling gang under Fred Lake had all their pepper abound and a foe never appeared more desperate for the Hill Toppers to handle.

It made a lot of difference with Hal Chase back in the old lineup, as the star first sacker was always ready to urge his comrades on to faster pace.

Another loss for the Red Sox meant a tumble from the berth they hold in third place, and there was a big motive for the players to keep nerved up for the entire distance of the battle.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the AMERICAN.

WOMEN PLAY FAST TENNIS

The prelitinaries and the first round of play in the Ladies' Open Tennis Tournament were held at the Brookline Country Club to-day. In the preliminaries Miss Williams won from Mrs. Greenough, 6-0, 6-0; Miss Edith Rotch from Miss Margaret Curtis, 6-2, 6-2; Miss Eleonora Sears from Miss Pitkin, 6-2, 6-1; Miss Beach Wright from Miss Mills, 6-2, 6-2; Miss Charlotte Allen from Miss Elizabeth Wells, 6-1, 6-3.

In the first round Miss Marion Fenno won from Miss Priscilla Stackpole, 6-1, 6-4; Miss Cockill from Miss Sarah Lawrence, 6-2, 6-0; Mrs. Joseph Warren from Miss Marion Hoopaus, 6-2, 6-2; Mrs. G. Wadsworth from Mrs. Edgar Wrightington, 6-2, 6-2.

A fashionable throng watched the fast play.

One of the events of the tournament will be held next week when the mixed entry match between New York and Boston will be played. To the winners will be given suitable prizes for each event.

The committee in charge of the tournament has been very busy the past week arranging the details. It included Miss Evelyn Sears, chairman; Miss Marion H. Fenno, Miss Edith D. Rotch, George B. Morrison and Edwin Sheafe.

VIRGINIA HONORS CONFEDERATE DEAD

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., May 6.—Ten years ago a movement was started for the erection of a Confederate monument in this city. Yesterday, on the anniversary of the organization of the Monticello Guard, Company A, Nineteenth Virginia Regiment, the shaft was unveiled with ceremonials and eloquent tributes by United States Senator Daniel, former Mayor Caston McCarthy of Richmond and Representative McCall of Massachusetts.

Enthused Candidates Work Tooth and Nail to Win Magnificent Vacation Tours.

HERE was an air of briskness about the Around the World Department to-day. Fresh vigor and enthusiasm reigned among the contestants for the vacation tours. All seemed to have found an added incentive in the fact that the gold prizes of last week were won by sheer hard work and determination.

All seem bent on landing one of the gold prizes offered this week and from the rush and hurry of the vote getters, it seems as though it will be a close finish at the close of the gold offer at midnight Saturday.

The boys and girls are now coming up to the Around-the-World department of the BOSTON AMERICAN direct from school, lest valuable time be lost in holding back the subscriptions which they gather, and they are as busy as the proverbial bee piling them in for count.

KEEP IT UP. Get your subscriptions. Don't wait for to-morrow. TO-DAY IS THE DAY.

Make your plans for subscription getting. Then lose no time in carrying them out. Your chance is a grand one and if you work hard and win one of the grand prize tours you will have gained one of the most magnificent opportunities ever placed within the reach of a school boy or school girl. GET BUSY. DO IT NOW! That's the command; heed it!

This evening, at Central Hall, No. 724 Washington street, Peter S. McNally will deliver a tour talk before the Massachusetts Lodge No. 2, Ancient Order of United Workmen. This entertainment will consist of a lecture, also vocal and instrumental music. The A. O. U. W. has several candidates for the travel tours of the BOSTON AMERICAN and the travel talk is intended to rouse the members.

Jacob Holmes, of No. 4 Mystic avenue, Melrose, is a hard worker among the contestants and hopes to pile up a grand total. He wishes to call upon all his friends to aid him in this battle and through them he hopes to come out a winner.

James Thomson, Jr., of No. 41 Bigelow street, Brigton, is a promising contestant, and if hard work counts for anything he will land in the front rank. His father is James Thomson, at the Oak Square car barn. His uncle, Alexander Thomson, is foreman at the Cheverdon Hills car barn, and young Thomson is promised the support of the employes of both these car barns.

Lawrence Boy Active.

A bright and active contestant is Harry Weintraub of Lawrence. He has the support of the Lawrence Telegram, in which paper appears a local item asking the people of his native city to save their votes for him, and help him bring the laurels to their home town. He is also assisted by Samuel S. Fishman, a popular newsboy of Lawrence.

The time for entering the lists is rapidly drawing to a close. Every boy and girl is urged to consider this offer and send in their nominations before it is too late. Following are some of the recent entries:

Alexander, Joseph, 74 Pine street, Waltham; Colpitts, Frank, 137 Arlington street, Quincy, Mass.; Cirrouna, John, 2 Oneida street, Boston; Collins, Fred, 2779 Washington street, Roxbury; Dalton, Harry, 403 Prairie avenue, Providence, R. I.; Fogarty, Adelaide, 1408 Webster street, East Boston; Harris, Louis, 45 Waverly street, Worcester; Gourry, Alfred, 19 Arnold circle, Cambridge; Joyce, Wilfred, 40 Lexington street, East Boston; Leary, Leon, 68 Sayles street, Woonsocket, R. I.; Magidson, Rose, 11 Blossom street, Boston; MacDonald, Mary, 256 Lexington street, East Boston; Butler, Maude, 5 Vernon street, Worcester; Peterson, Arthur, 130 Cedar street, Somerville; Petrucke, Oscar, 757 Douglas avenue, Providence, R. I.; Pokswich, Angelina, 109 West Fifth street, So. Boston; Sarman, Howard Niles, 477 Public street, Providence, R. I.; Wren, Mary, 88 Ringold street, Marlboro, Mass.

$100 MORE IN GOLD FOR SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS

THE BOSTON AMERICAN again offers $50 in gold to the boys and $50 in gold to the girls who obtain the largest number of votes through paid-in-advance subscriptions in the School Contest for the free vacation tours during the week of May 2 to May 8. Another prize this week will be a beautifully illustrated travelogue for all nominees, to be given Saturday, May 8, at Tremont Temple.

This is the second weekly grand special prize offer of the American's Travel Contest for the Race Around the Earth, Tours to Europe and travel journeys in America. Individual vote coupons will not count.

REMEMBER, that a new contestant entering the race to-day, or the boy or girl with the lowest vote to-day, has the same opportunity to secure one of these prizes as the contestant who now leads the voting list. These prizes are offered for the largest number of votes (by means of paid-in-advance subscriptions) secured during the week of May 2 to May 8, inclusive.

The prize of $50 to the girls will be divided in exactly the same manner as the $50 is divided in prizes for boys, as follows: $20 as a first prize; $10 as a second prize and four prizes of $5.00 each.

MAYOR GIVES $5,000 OFFICE TO MULLEN

J. Edward Mullen, who has been acting deputy superintendent of the supply department since the retirement of Walter F. Burk of East Boston, will be made superintendent of supplies on next Monday. The announcement was made by Mayor Hibbard to-day. Last September the Civil Service Commission authorized the appointment of Mullen as provisional deputy. His term as a provisional employe has expired and the Mayor would either be required to appoint him or ask for an extension of his time. The permanent appointment means that his salary of $2,500 will be increased to $5,000. The Civil service Commission held an examination for permanent deputy some months ago, and Mullen, who was one of the competitors, failed to pass.

CHARLE SHARRIS, EX-OFFICIAL, DEAD

Charles Harris, for nineteen years superintendent of Boston's streets, died to-day at his home on Acacia street, Cambridge. He was over seventy-six years old. He was the son of Dr. Thaddeus W. Harris, who for twenty-five years was librarian of Harvard College. In 1854 he entered the employ of the city as an assistant engineer, and on December 25, 1864, was elected as superintendent of streets.

IF THESE LAWS PASS—Every woman will want to read this article in next Sunday's AMERICAN and see what might happen to her.

SHAW WON'T QUIT FIGHT FOR HIS BOY

Sate Senator James F. Shaw said to day that he was greatly surprised at the news from Santa Barbara, Cal., that H. Fisher Eldredge, his father-in-law, had forgiven Mrs. Nettie E. Shaw, his eloping wife. Senator Shaw added, however, that he would continue his fight for possession of Eldredge Shaw, his eleven-year-old boy, no matter what was going on in Santa Barbara.

When Mr. Eldredge left Boston last Saturday for the West Senator Shaw said that everything was harmonious between him and his father-in-law, that Mr. Eldredge would bring back the boy and that he, himself, would probably bring action for divorce against Mrs. Shaw for eloping with H. Keno Marble, her chauffeur.

Dispatches early to-day from Santa Barbara say that Mr. Eldredge had an affecting meeting with his daughter there. They intimated that the father had forgiven the daughter and would be enlisted on her side in the family troubles.

Asked to-day about this new turn in the case, Senator Shaw says.

"I'm surprised at the dispatches from California. When Mr. Eldredge left here we were in perfect accord as to the future of the boy. Mr. Eldredge is a tenderhearted man, and it may be that a daughter's arms about his neck, her tears and pleas for forgiveness and her begging him to take her back to the old home may have had its effect.

"Division to-day of the California court in the habeas corpus proceedings which Mrs. Shaw has instituted for the control of my boy. She signed a release and these proceedings for a writ of habeas corpus were so afterthought.

"When asked concerning the possibility of a reconciliation between Mrs. Shaw and her husband after the woman's escapade with Shaw's chauffeur, H. Keno Marble, Mr. Eldredge said:

"That is a matter which must be settled between my daughter and her husband. I have nothing to do with it. I am here to do my duty as a father. I hope to be able to put an end to the present unpleasant situation.

SETBACK FOR BILL ON CITIZEN LABOR

In executive session to-day the Legislative Committee on Labor acted to report a "next General Court" reference on the bill of Arthur M. Huddell of the Boston Central Labor Union which provides that all persons employed on any work done by or in behalf of the Commonwealth shall be citizens of the United States and the cities of the Commonwealth, and on public works in cities or towns citizens of the municipality.

ASK FOR RIGHT TO MERGE TWO ROADS

A petition was filed with the Railroad Commission to-day by the Middlesex & Boston and Newton & Boston street railways asking for approval of a consolidation of those companies under the name of the Middlesex & Boston, and for the right to increase the capital stock for the company to $600,000.

Absolute cleanliness and purity are two strong points in favor of "Salada" Tea. **

NEW ENGLAND'S GREAT CASH HOUSE

Friday Three-Hour Sales

WE PURCHASE OR RESERVE GOODS expressly for these sales, and do not use them as a means of working off odds, ends and unsalable lots. Occasionally a remnant lot is included in the Friday Sales, but never unless it represents very unusual values. New, fresh merchandise is what the customer buys at the Three-Hour Sales, although the prices might lead the reader to infer otherwise; and every price which appears here expresses a superior value.

Cash Deposits

Investigate our Cash Deposit System. It gives you all the convenience of a charge account, combined with the advantages of our cash prices. Your money draws 4% interest, compounded every three months, and can be withdrawn at an any time. Five dollars at Cash Deposit office.

24 HORSES DIE IN STABLE FIRE

Twenty-four horses perished in a fire which broke out early to-day in the stable of William H. Breen, in the rear of Nos. 51 and 53 Miller street, Charlestown.

James Ackley, one of Breen's teamsters, succeeded in getting two horses and a mule out of the burning building but when he returned to rescue the others a wall of flame forced him to give up the attempt.

Thirty wagons and several loads of furniture in the storehouse connected with the stable along with valuable harnesses and fittings were also destroyed. The fire threatened several tenement houses in the near vicinity but the firemen confined the flames to the stable and storehouse although the rear of the stable of Hilton & Sons at Nos. 231 and 233 Rutherford avenue was slightly damaged. The eleven horses which were in this building were removed in safety.

Benjamin, the seven-year-old son of James Ackley, who lives at No. 49 Miller street, saw the glare of the fire from his window shortly after 3 o'clock and told his mother, Mrs. Ackley, who aroused her husband. Two alarms were sounded.

How the fire started is not known. The damage will reach between $20,000 and $25,000.

TAYLOR FREE IF BILL PASSES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 6.—A complete freeze-out of the depositors in the defunct New England Trust Company is expected when the bill for release of prisoners on civil process is slated to be railroaded through the House.

The bill is denounced by depositors as framed only to free Thomas D. Taylor, former head of the New England Trust Company, and held responsible for the $350,000 of deposits tied up in the affairs of the concern. Taylor is now in jail.

Taylor was arrested on complaint of Receiver John B. Reagan of the New England Trust Company on a civil charge that he had conspired to defraud the depositors. The bail was fixed at $350,000.

The bill provides that any person not a resident of the State and owing over $300 to residents shall be permitted to file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. After the petition is accepted he shall be adjudged insolvent, and shall be exempt from arrest or imprisonment under civil process.

The bill was railroaded through the Senate under suspension of the rules, and sent to the House, which quickly referred it to the Committee on Judiciary. The Legislature adjourns to-morrow.

Former Mayor D. J. McCarthy of the depositors' committee denounces the bill as a shameful trick.

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight, London Time

Spanish Mobs Attack Convents.

MADRID — Violent demonstrations took place to-day against the bishop of Orenso. The mob broke the windows of the palace and made an attack upon several convents. The disorders were the outcome of the trouble which arose a few days ago at Viborra, where a number were killed and wounded while opposing the carrying out of an episcopal order.

Greater Flyer for Wrights.

LONDON—As a result of their last six months' operations the Wright brothers will shortly produce an aeroplane which will be far more stable and more easily steered than their present machine. It will be capable of making fifty or sixty miles an hour. It will have an air-cooled motor which can be driven for hours without overheating or stopping.

Bomb Plotters to Die.

CALCUTTA.—Two natives have been sentenced to death. Ten have been transported for life and six others have received lighter sentences for plotting the bomb outrages at Alipore.

Asquith's Majority Cut.

LONDON—The debate on the budget in the Commons was concluded somewhat abruptly by the government moving closure. The resultant division gave the government a majority of 107, greatly below the average, and the Unionists cheered tumultuously and shouted "Resign."

Too Many Holidays.

ST PETERSBURG.—The Council of the Empire has entrusted to a special commission a bill reducing the number of public holidays in Russia, which number 91. The excess of holidays, it is stated, costs Russia $1,000,000,000 yearly.

The bill proposes that 28 of the holidays be eliminated.

Flees From Paris Police.

PARIS.—B. F. Wyler, a naturalized American citizen, who once had an office in New York, has fled from Paris, presumably for America, and the New York police have been notified. Wyler's flight followed his arrest. Frank Alexe, of Brooklyn, charged that he had failed to account for several thousand dollars. Alexe says that when threatened with exposure Wyler said he intended to kill Alexe and commit suicide.

Money to Save Painting.

LONDON.—Lewis Harcourt has promised the Government $50,000, provided the public will subscribe the balance of $100,000 required to purchase the famous Holbein portrait of Christina of Denmark. The picture has been sold to an American for $320,000. The sale has aroused the English.

Vast Lead Combine Formed.

LONDON—Seventy per cent. of the world's lead supply is to be brought under the absolute control of a gigantic new separate corporations, working together in harmony. Prices are to advance from $68.75 a ton to $80 or $100 a ton. The interests concerned comprise the Guggenheims and other large American producers.

Buys O'Connor's Works.

PARIS—M. Dujardin-Beaumetz of the Department of Fine Arts visited Andrew O'Connor, the American sculptor, and purchased for the government a bronze cast of the door of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, erected in memory of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. He ordered a model of the statue of Commodore Barry, to be erected in Washington.

MOTHER AWARDED IMMIGRANT CHILD

Little Irene Milligan, four years old, for whom her parents waged a contest before the immigration authorities, was turned over to the custody of her mother by Colonel Billings to-day. The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Milligan. Her father lives at No. 51 Forest street, Roxbury, while the mother lives at No. 50 Orcutt street as her home. Mrs. Milligan said that Irene was born in Dorchester, but she took her to Ireland about two years ago. When Mrs. Milligan returned to this country it was not to live with her husband. She says she learned that Mr. Milligan had sent John McLaughlin, her brother, money to bring the child to him, and find that the uncle, ignorant that domestic infelicity was involved, came to Boston with his niece as requested. Mrs. Milligan got cabled news of the departure, and was at the pier to claim little Irene when the steamship docked.

SHOT IS FIRED AS POLICEMAN FIGHTS

John J. Gately of No. 10 Island street and Patrick J. Cleary of No. 71 Chadwick street, Roxbury, who were arrested early to-day by Policeman McDonald and another patrolman of Station 9 at the grocery store of M. O'Keefe, No. 80 Hampden street, and overpowered after a struggle and chase, were held for the grand jury in the Roxbury District Court. The fight on the front door to the store was broken. McDonald clubbed Gately over the head, after a fight during which Cleary's revolver was discharged. Gately took to his beds. On April 22 the store had been robbed. Judge Williams held the men for both breaks.

FRIDAY ARROW SALE

Every Friday we hold an Arrow Sale, when we mark down for quick selling all odd lots, broken sizes, single pieces, samples, goods soiled or crushed in handling or used in window displays, and goods that for any reason have been slow in selling.

By this method we are able to keep our stocks fresh, clean and correct in every way.

Owing to the prevalence of exaggerated comparisons in Boston, comparative values in this store's advertising are entirely omitted—even in describing bargains. Hence the name—"Non-Comparative Price" Store.

FRIENDS JAIL ACCUSED MAN

WARE, May 6.—John Gyratis was taken today to the county jail in Worcester, where he will probably be charged with the killing of Superintendent of Streets William A. Goodfield of Hardwick. The assault on Goodfield took place in front of the Hotel Hardwick last night. Goodfield was stabbed in the thigh, an artery being severed, and died from loss of blood. Goodfield and some friends were dining and listening, attracted by cries of help coming from the street, and Goodfield put him out of the place twice.

In the absence of Sheriff Fred Crawford and the town policeman, Goodfield's friends arrested Gyratis and lodged him in the lockup for the night.

Goodfield owned a large farm between Hardwick and Gilbertville. He leaves a wife and two young children.

FAKIR A HERO FOR 44 YEARS

NEW YORK, May 6.—James Cunningham, who has posed for nearly half a century as a Civil War veteran and Grand Army member, will come before United States Justice Chatfield Saturday to be sentenced for drawing a pension under false pretenses. He may be sent to State Prison for five years and fined $2,000.

Cunningham ran away from home at the age of seventeen to enlist. He did not go to war, but when he returned he was hailed as a hero. He accepted the honors given him. Joined Devin Post, No. 148, G. A. R., rose to be its Commander, told vivid stories of his war-time experiences and became one of the leading members of the local department. To carry out the deception he applied for, secured and accepted a pension.

The fraud was detected by Pension Inspector Cole, who found pensions were being paid to two men of the same name, who claimed to have served in the One Hundredth and Sixth New York. The other man easily established his legal rights and Cunningham's guilt was shown. His counsel says:

"The old man has been more a fool than a knave. Originally he did not intend to do anything wrong, but circumstances drove him to his present plight."

Cunningham has offered to restore all his pension payments, but the offer has not been accepted.

FOES OF BLACK HAND PLAN WAR

Wealthy Italians of New York, Boston and other large cities with Italian populations are combining to form an anti-Black Hand society.

Detective Thomas Colesanto of Waterbury, Ct., one of the best-informed Italian sleuths in the country, has been invited to aid the organization. It is said that he is to be appointed to the New York police force to become a second Petrosino and to take up the work in which that martyr to duty was engaged when he was assassinated.

The object of the society is to drive out the Black Hand, to run down its agents, to fight them at every turn and to protect wealthy Italians.

The Mafia and Camorra leaders in Italy are to be watched and every member of the bands who comes to this country is to be followed and kept under surveillance. The criminals are to be prevented from landing in this country, if possible.

A number of influential Italian bankers and business men in New York are said to have guaranteed Colesanto a large salary, whether he is put on the New York police force or not.

THE TRAGEDY OF THE YERKES MILLIONS is told in next SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

DRIVEN TO DIE BY 'SOLITUDE'

NEW YORK, May 6.—After seeing a moving picture set entitled "Solitude," Captain George Pulling Armstrong of the British Royal Artillery, whose wife had left him, went to his lonely home on East Rutherford, N. J., and committed suicide.

Captain Armstrong was a medal hero of the Soudan under "Chinese" Gordon. He had served in India after the Sepoy mutiny, was a friend of Charles Dickens's children and was a naturalized American. On April 7, last, he married Miss Jessie Wiley. He had known her eighteen years. Last Friday Mrs. Armstrong suddenly left her home for New York. She returned home Tuesday, but left again that evening after a long talk with her husband.

At the moving picture show Daily Morgan sang "Lonesome, I'm Awfully Lonesome." Captain Armstrong quitted the show abruptly. He was so weak and ill he had to be assisted out. He evidently went to his lonely cottage immediately, wrote a few farewell notes, turned on the gas jets and gas stove and lay down to die. On the table by the body was a paper on which was written:

"God bless the United States. The Rev. William A. Long of Arlington will open my desk."

On a separate line below was the single word:

"Solitude."

UNITE TO MAKE BETTER CITY

Representatives of fourteen districts in Greater Boston have united and formed a central organization known as the United Improvement Association, which has for its aim the advancement of the civic interests of the city.

The by-laws expressly stipulate that under no circumstances shall the policy of the association be of a partisan political nature.

Any district or local association which is non-partisan and non-political and is willing to advance the general welfare of the city may apply for membership, provided it has at least twenty-five members in good standing and has been doing regular organized work.

These are the officers of the new association: Judge Michael H. Sullivan of the Harvard Improvement Association of Dorchester, president; John H. Colby, president of the South End Improvement Society; Edward H. Carter of the Charlestown Improvement Association; Charles Logue of the Meeting House Hill Improvement Association, vice-presidents; Roger Ernst of the Roxbury Main Citizens' Association, treasurer; Robert Silverman of the West End Improvement Society, recorder.

GRANT ATTACKS PEACE PLANS

CHICAGO, May 6.—Major General Frederick D. Grant, commander of the Department of the Lakes, appeared unexpectedly at the banquet, which wound up the three days' gathering of the Second National Peace Congress and attacked the theories which had been carefully outlined by the various speakers concerning world peace.

"A good navy and a good army can do more to bring about peace than all the speeches of well fed delegates," said Gen. Grant. "The soldier is the peace lover. We long peace so much that when we are in trouble we fight to bring it about. I have read in the papers in the last three days much against the army. I have always felt that the profession of my father, of myself and of my son was a creditable one, but I cannot help thinking that even though that profession may now be in disrepute it has been an honorable one. It has benefitted the people of this country.

"It is your statesmen and your people that create wars."

LECTURES ON THE BRAIN.

William R. Woodbury, M. D., of the Boston Dispensary, and medical director of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union, will speak in the course of public medical lectures this evening at 8 o'clock at the Boston Young Men's Christian Union, upon "The Brain and the Nervous System." The public is cordially invited.

STABBING WIFE AND DAUGHTER CHARGED

Mrs. Elizabeth Mondino has a dangerous wound over her heart at her home, No. 313 Norfolk avenue, Roxbury, and her twenty-year-old daughter, Pauline, is suffering from three minor cuts. Luigi Mondino, the husband and father, is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. According to the women, Mondino came home early today in an ugly mood and started to carve them with a knife. In Roxbury District Court Mondino was held in $1,000 bail for continued hearing next Tuesday.

WIFE, JEALOUS OF MRS. M'COY, FORGIVES ALL

NEW YORK, May 6.—When Mrs. Agnes Sanger, wife of Mark Sanger, president of the Premier Motor Car Company, obtained a summons for her husband, she tied another twine in the marital complications of "Kid McCoy," the pugilist, not to mention the fact that she blinked her own domestic relations, for she mentions Mrs. McCoy in her complaint.

The Sangers were in the Harlem Police Court to-day, where, after a lecture by Magistrate Crane, they kissed and made up, after Mr. Sanger had promised to forget Mrs. McCoy.

All the trouble arose over an anonymous note, which caused Mrs. Sanger to trail her husband to the Hanover apartment house, on West 122d street, where she says she found him and Mrs. McCoy drinking champagne together.

McCoy, whose real name is Norman Selby, is now in Paris. Mrs. Agnes Mrs. McCoy was the wealthy widow of Edward C. Ellis of South Orange, N. J.

Her marriage to McCoy four or five years ago attracted attention, not only because of her wealth, but on account of "Kid's" matrimonial adventures. He had previously been divorced and married the same girl three times.

Another Divorce Sure.

Now the Sanger episode threatens another divorce proceeding, for Mrs. Sanger says she is going to the legal limit.

"I'm through with him forever after that horrible scene," said Mrs. Sanger at her home to-day, after she had obtained the summons from Magistrate Crane. "That woman has ruined my life—and I'll never have known it but for an anonymous letter. I knew he was with a fast crowd more than he ought to be, and that he wasn't paying enough attention to me and to my little boy, Jack.

"But I never suspected him of paying attentions to another woman until last Monday, when an unsigned letter, written in a woman's hand, came to me saying that if I wanted to know more about my husband than I had ever suspected, I had better go any night to the Hanover apartments and ask for Mrs. Selby.

"I had never heard of her before, but my suspicions were aroused, and, accompanied by my sister, Eva Ross, we strolled over to the Hanover and took the elevator to the third floor. A maid opened the door for us and we walked right in. We had gone only a few feet when I saw my husband seated with Mrs. Selby at a table. They were both drinking champagne.

Says Husband Fled.

"As soon as my husband realized what had happened, he jumped up from the table and ran into another room. I started to follow him, but Mrs. Selby stood in the door and barred my way. Then she ordered us from her apartment. Before leaving the room, I picked up my husband's coat and hat and took them with me.

"I could hear him open a window leading to one of the fire-escapes, and I am sure he made his way to the roof in an effort to find a safe exit. When we reached the street, I saw my husband's green automobile, and in about fifteen minutes Mrs. Selby came down. She said that my husband was not in her apartment.

"During the excitement, a large crowd gathered and Mrs. Selby jumped into my husband's machine and drove away. She must have met him later on, for I understand that a woman answering the description was with him when she was arrested for speeding his automobile.

Tried to Square Things.

"My husband and Mrs. Selby made every effort to have the matter dropped to-day. They called me on the phone and begged me not to speak to newspaper men. Mrs. Selby offered me all the money and diamonds that I wanted if I would only keep her name out of the matter. She said that 'Kid McCoy' was seeking a divorce and that she was not willing to give him any legal excuse.

"Mrs. Selby denied any knowledge of Mrs. Sanger's visit to her home. She said that she had known Mr. Sanger in a business way, but denied that she was with him on an auto trip when he was arrested. Later in the day when she was called by 'phone, she suggested that all questions be put to her lawyer.

MRS. ANNIS ON STAND TO-DAY IN HAINS CASE

FLUSHING, L. I., May 6.—Chief interest in the case of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., to-day centred in the prospective appearance on the witness stand of Mrs. William E. Annis, the widow of the man for whose murder the United States army officer is being tried for his life.

Although the battle of the alienists was still on when Justice Garretson called court to order only a few spectators were on hand to listen to the tedious technical arguments.

Prosecutor Dewitt continued his efforts to tangle up Dr. L. S. Manson, chief of the defence's medical corps, in the web of the cross-examination. The other alienists, for and against the prisoner's cause, were scheduled to follow him. Then, in their order, were to come the eighteen witnesses, headed by the stately widow of Philip Annis, who are expected to refute the testimony of the friends of the officer who said he acted as a crazy man on and prior to August 15 last, at the time of the shooting.

Dr. Manson, in answer to the prosecutor's question, admitted that he had seen persons who had delusions and yet were not insane. Drunken men were often such, the witness said. The prosecutor was unable to shake the witness as to his declaration that Captain Hains was suffering from legislative insanity when he shot Annis. This was a symptom of maniac-depressive insanity, he declared.

The witness was ready with a list of authorities to quote on this point. It was nothing more nor less than a clinical diagnosis. The expert successfully parried every question of Dewitt, couched by Blake's expert Hicks on this point.

Dr. Manson refused to be committed upon the question as to just when Captain Hains had first been attacked by the legislative insanity which led to the killing of Annis.

"No one can determine these things with minuteness," he declared.

District Attorney Dewitt then read the testimony of Dr. Manson at the T. Jenkins Hains trial when the expert had said that Captain Hains had suffered from maniac-depressive insanity from the time of Claudia's confession on May 1, 1906, two and one-half months before the shooting. The witness averred that this was not materially different from what he was now testifying. He had not before attempted to give the time of the first impulsive symptoms, he said, and could not do so now.

The Captain's pulse, he said, at this time was only about 68, from 12 to 15 beats, he declared, below the normal.

TURKISH OFFICIALS IN PLOT TO KILL 50,000 IN ADANA MASSACRES

ADANA, Asiatic Turkey, May 6.—The Rev. Stephen R. Trowbridge, a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, estimates the number of Armenians killed in the province of Adana since the outbreak of the antichristian rioting at 23,000. He believes there was a Turkish plot to make the number 50,000. Continuing, the missionary said to-day:

"A conservative estimate of the Christians killed in the city of Adana is 9,000. This calculation is made up from the lists prepared by the priests and other officials who give permits for burials. Not less than 20,000 perished in the towns and villages of the province.

"The surviving Armenians in the entire province are largely women and children. They amount to about 25,000 and are to-day without homes, shops, tools, clothing or bread. A most pitiable and wretched multitude is passing up and down the streets of Adana like a lost people. They throng the big factory yards, where a cake of flour is given out by the relief committee.

"Crowds of broken-hearted women and children are coming in from the country to even greater misery in the city.

Massacres "Matter of Course."

"Two Christian prisoners who escaped from government headquarters declared that horsemen came in at intervals from outlying towns and villages and reported to the military authorities as follows: 'Hamidieh is finished' or 'Osmaniyeh is finished,' meaning, of course, that the Armenian populations of these places had been put to the sword. The military officers received this information as a matter of course.

"The further occupation of Mohammedan minarets by regular soldiers began shortly after noon of April 14, at the very outset of the struggle. These soldiers kept up a fusilade into all parts of the Christian quarter. They were shielded by the parapets of the minarets. There were no patrols of soldiers or police all day Wednesday, the 14th, none on Thursday, and none even on Friday at the real crisis, when a Moslem mob filled the streets from here to the river, surging against the walls of the girls' school. The Government furnished us no protection whatever."

Continuing, Mr. Trowbridge related various examples of the Government's indifference to the safety of the Armenians or its participation in their killing. Armenians in their killing. Armenians begging refuge at the Government headquarters were killed in the market place.

Villagers who brought prisoners to the Government headquarters were asked: "Why did you not finish these gaours in the the villages; why have you brought them here?"

Plot to Slay 50,000.

It is Mr. Trowbridge's conviction that a plot existed to destroy the 50,000 Armenians in Adana Province.

In one vineyard shooting was begun and hatred was aroused on April 12. An Armenian who had been beaten shot one of his opponents dead and wounded two others. This man escaped to Mersina and took passage on a vessel. The Turks in Adana then assumed a menacing attitude, which greatly alarmed the Armenians. Selwonk, the famous champion. The traps are a victoria, two gigs and a phaeton. Mrs. Vanderbilt is scheduled to drive in the ladies' phaeton class.

POLICE GET THIEF SUSPECT IN CHASE

After a hard foot race and an exciting fight Policeman Daniel F. Sullivan of the East Dedham street station early to-day arrested John Lord in Newland street. Lord, after he was taken to the station house, confessed, the police say, to breaking and entering the store of E. O. Puffer, No. 1,567 Washington street, South End.

Boxes and bundles full of silk stockings, silk handkerchiefs, neckties, gloves, belts and watch valued at $100 were recovered.

Policeman Sullivan found Lord peeping around the corner from Brookline street early to-day. He saw that the man's hands and arms were filled with bundles and boxes. The moment Lord observed the policeman he ran down Brookline street. Sullivan was after him in a second.

WOMEN FAINT AT AERONAUT'S SKY PLUNGE

ROME, May 6.—Lieutenant Calderara, the protege of the Wright Brothers in aero navigation, was perhaps fatally injured to-day while making a flight in the Wright machine.

A great crowd was looking on when Lieutenant Calderara made his ascent. His appearance the ascent was no different from hundreds made by the Wrights. Suddenly, when the machine had soared to a height of 100 feet the motor stopped. The car hung stationary for a minute, then dropped like a shot. For an instant the watchers were too much stunned to move. Then a cry went up and men moved forward to the side of the unconscious aeronaut, while women screamed and fainted.

REAL BEAUTY COMES TO WOMAN AT 25 AND 30, SAYS ARTIST FISHER

Artist Harrison Fisher and one of his famous intellectual beauties, from a colored reproduction copyrighted by Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"To Be Intelligent It Is Not Necessary to Be Homely"; Look at Boston!

Brain or Beauty is the choice that is offered to a young man in search of a wife, according to Dr. Dudley B. Sargent, head of the Hemenway gymnasium at Harvard. Nor is there any chance for a "little of both, if you please," if the published results of the learned gentleman's researches are to be believed.

"For," says Dr. Sargent, with seeming conviction and certain assurance:

"It is absolutely true that a woman to be beautiful must have no mentality."

Really, that smacks of slander, and particularly when one pauses to consider that it is intelligence that has made the Boston woman world-famed.

But whether Dr. Sargent ever pauses to consider would seem doubtful, for, not contented with the first verbal bomb, he hurls a second, in this guise:

"Also a woman is at her highest development at eighteen years of age. It is only in rare cases that a woman is beautiful after she has passed twenty-five."

Real Beauties Under 30.

"Frankly, I cannot see how Dr. Sargent has reached his conclusion when he says that a woman is at the height of her beauty at the age of eighteen," went on Mr. Fisher.

"For myself personally I would say that all the most beautiful women that I have ever seen were between the ages of twenty-five and thirty.

"A girl of eighteen is charming as a bud is charming. It is the allurement of a promise, but it is the full blown rose, the fulfillment that holds us breathless with admiration.

"History, too," concluded Mr. Fisher, "contains an answer or two to that last remark of Dr. Sargent's. Has he forgotten the many and gloriously beautiful women who were driving men mad with love of them after they had passed their thirtieth year?"

CHILD HIT BY CAR.

APPEAL TO GOVERNOR TO SAVE JORDAN

The lawyers who hope to save Chester S. Jordan from the electric chair, it was learned to-day, will concentrate their efforts in an appeal to Governor Draper and his council for a commutation of the death sentence.

Among the various plans discussed in behalf of Jordan is the tapping of the spinal column for evidence of paresis. This operation is known as the lumbar tap or puncture, and Jordan's alienists were anxious to do this before the trial.

If they had been permitted by Jordan to puncture his spine and obtain some of the spinal fluid they could have told whether it was going through a hardening process or not. If the fluid was found to be hardening that would have been evidence of incipient paresis. This is the standard test for paresis. There is no known paresis germ.

Cannot Make Test.

Such a proceeding at the present time would be impossible, it is pointed out, so far as the higher courts are concerned, even if the district attorney would permit it, because the higher courts have nothing to do with Jordan's insanity except to pass on some legal questions in connection with it.

General Bartlett and the other Jordan lawyers will fight for his life in the higher courts, as they have stated, but that will be purely a battle on law points from exceptions taken during the trial and will have nothing to do with Jordan's condition.

The possibilities for Jordan were discussed for the AMERICAN to-day by one of the leading jurists of the State whose name, for obvious reasons, is not given here. Attorneys who are familiar with criminal law will recognize the strength of what the jurist says in the following:

Absolute proof of Jordan's insanity would have no weight or standing in the determination of a new trial. A new trial will rise or fall upon the decision of the Supreme Court of the State upon the exceptions taken at the trial before Judges Stevens and Bell. Beyond these exceptions nothing can be called to the attention of this court.

The case will be presented in printed briefs and argued on the twenty-seven exceptions. Three of these exceptions relate to insanity. Jordan's lawyers asked that the jury be charged that Jordan was not guilty because of insanity for reason of strangulation, also for reason of the throat cutting, and, thirdly, for reason of the blows on the head.

The judges refused to charge the jury as requested. Three exceptions were taken, and they will be urged before the Supreme Court when a new trial is asked for. This is the only way in which Jordan's sanity can be brought before the Supreme Court.

Should counsel for the defence and the District Attorney agree to it the Supreme Court might appoint a commission to determine Jordan's sanity. But District Attorney Higgins declares Jordan is sane and he does the jury that convicted him, and it is highly improbable that the District Attorney would agree to the appointment of a commission.

The only recourse that Jordan has, so far as the question of his insanity is concerned, is the Governor and his Council. They can save Jordan from death in the electric chair.

Jordan's attorneys have two exceptions that will probably be argued in the United States Supreme Court in case they fail in the State Supreme Court. One of these exceptions is that the indictment of Jordan was insufficient in its allegations and the other that the Grand Jury was illegally drawn.

Jordan is now a convicted man and is in the custody of the State. He may be visited under certain conditions, but no doctor would be allowed to experiment with his spine even if Jordan and his attorneys wanted it done.

WOMEN RESCUED IN EVERETT FIRE

Thrilling rescues by firemen, who carried two women and a man down ladders at the risk of their lives, and the possible loss of $75,000 in government bonds and other valuable securities, characterized a stubborn two-alarm fire in the Broadway Chambers at the corner of Broadway and Everett square, Everett.

Mrs. William Whipple, an invalid, was taken down a ladder to safety by Captain George Hatch of the Everett Fire Department, and other firemen rescued Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Morley.

How to Stop Baldness

Woods Hutchinson, M. D., widely known as a writer of authority, says in the Cosmopolitan Magazine for February, 1909: "The main hope of stopping the advance of baldness lies in the direction of improving the general health and vigor, while at the same time keeping the scalp and the hair in a clean, antiseptic, well-ventilated condition. Avoid using too strong soaps, strong alkalis, such as ammonia and soda, and too hot water, as all of these take out too much of the natural lubricant, or oil, of the hair, and leave it dry and harsh." Birt's Head Wash is recommended as a perfectly safe preparation for cleansing the hair and scalp. It is a mild, antiseptic preparation, made of Refined Soap, Cochin Cocoanut Oil, Glycerin, White of Eggs and Salicylic Acid. This is a formula that comes well within Dr. Hutchinson's recommendation, as it contains no free alkali or ammonia, and it puts the scalp and hair in a vigorous, healthful condition. After using Birt's Head Wash, your hair will possess a fineness and sheen that no other remedy can bestow, while your scalp will be soft, white and clean. Remember always that cleanliness comes first of all in stopping falling hair, curing dandruff and itching scalp, and that for all these troubles Birt's Head Wash is the best thing you can buy, for you know exactly what it is made of. There are so many fakes and frauds for the hair, on the market that you ought to be glad to get something that you can depend upon as being safe to use. Price 50c a jar.

FRED TARAL WILL NEVER RIDE AGAIN

NEW YORK, May 6.—Fred Taral, America's famous jockey, who for years has been riding the mounts of titled horse owners abroad, accompanied by his wife and his son, Fed, Jr., returned to this city to-day on the steamship Bluebor. Taral announced that unable to longer make the weight required to ride in the big events abroad he had retired forever from the saddle.

For several years he has been riding with great success under contract for Baron Gustave Springer of Vienna, who has several important events. Taral is now forty-eight years old and up to several months ago easily made 117 pounds as required. The effort in reducing, however, proved too much, and rather than take chances he announced his permanent retirement.

"No," he said, in response to a question, "my son will never be a jockey. A lawyer, doctor, anything in fact, but a jockey —never. The life is too hard and the chances too dangerous. I have been riding continually for twenty-eight years, and I think I ought to know something about it.

"It's too bad racing has been killed here in the East. It means the loss to many of their greatest sport."

JUNIORS OUT TO WIN TECH CLASS MEET

"It will be better than ever," said Coach Frank Kanaly of the Technology track team when asked about the interclass championship track meet Saturday. More men have been out this week than any time this Spring. Several of the men are showing remarkable improvement, particularly among the freshmen.

Although the Juniors seem to have the best pinched, the Seniors are getting busy and there is some possibility of their winning the meet. Captain Grant is entered in the three dashes and Ray Allen in the high jump, high hurdles, shot put and half mile. C. L. Campbell, who was on the two-mile relay race against Tufts, is also in the half. In the field events the two Howland, McCarthy and Stephenson are working hard and should rake in a few points, unless some of the freshmen cross-country men step in and disturb the equilibrium.

In the weight events Mudge Soward and Monty Flagg are busky candidates for the hammer throw; Nisbet is the best man at 56ch in the discus throw and Sherman has frequently placed in the shot put. The other classes are fortunate in having large squads out and the meet promises to be the closest in years.

The Juniors are strong in the hurdles, with Lewis, Mosher, Campbell and Perkstrom. They also have Great Gott and Johnny Rockman in the shot put and broad jump; E. Stuart in the big jump, H. Lockett in the half mile and Jack Moses in the quarter and dashes. Haber is picking up a lot and will make a good bid for the two-mile.

BASEBALL NEWS AND NOTES

Ed Walsh is now safely in Comiskey's fold, and the local rooters are eagerly waiting for him to call in and step up a few.

* * *

The little birds now whisper it that Mike Donlin is feeling the call of the game, and will not be long before he is fluttering home. Birds are a great game.

* * *

George Mullin has the pitching record, so far, of both leagues. Five straight victories up to date.

* * *

Camnitz, the Pittsburg hurler, never before rated as a first-rater, has won four games and lost none so far this spring. He has practically carried the team.

* * *

Frank Chance lays off in one game whenever his team plays a double-header. The same one hour every game in which Frank does not participate.

* * *

The Cardinals continue to lead both leagues by a wide margin on fielding averages.

* * *

Stallings' team holds two records this season in the major league, one that it is the shortest they handled to Washington in the other day, and the other is the number of errors they made in the game at Boston. Tough luck, George.

* * *

Whoever is responsible for the report that Hal Chase is not batting next year has got a jolt. The great first-sacker is badly marked all over his face, but the only marking that will affect his batting is a fellow's beauty, let us hope it will not mar his batting.

* * *

Oh, you, Hughey Jennings, what do you mean? You fully managed to certainly getting the worst out of McGinn, Willetz and Summers, and "Wild Bill" Donovan, who has won four games and lost none if he wants to lead the league in victories.

* * *

Bill Bernhard has joined the Cubs. The other Johnny, or Mr. Big, Evers, is now in charge of the great big aggregation of baseball players. Mr. C. Webb Murphy don't understand baseball politics. Evers will be King before long, unless the big fellow from being placed on the blacklist.

* * *

Bill in Cincinnati they are arranging to play Sunday ball. Bill, what's the matter with Boston? From what we hear the Cincinnati team in the past we were led to believe that the Reds there had all they could seeing them play once a day.

* * *

Roger Bresnahan is in the height of his glory out in St. Louis. The baseballists are fast topping the Giants in the National League race.

* * *

George Washington never had a chance to play baseball. Judging from the way he crossed the Delaware ice and struck, he would have been a .350 point hitter and a first baseman of the Brooklyn team.

* * *

The Pirates are getting to look stronger each day. They are running the bases as fast as dogs and they are also clouting the ball to all parts of the field.

* * *

Addie Joss, the great Cleveland pitcher, would like to see Ed Walsh get that $7,500. "It recognition he was the best pitcher in either big league last year" said Joss. "Some of the writers in the National League seem to have it in for me this year. No one could say last year that Walsh he was right, and he was always right."

Dick Cooley is making a fine team of Topeka team. They are called the Cooly Sox now.

* * *

If someone doesn't soon stop those Insects in Jersey City there won't be any Eastern league race; it will be a procession. But, methinks, on the near distance I see something coming.

* * *

Baseball is getting to be a game for the ancient. Adrie Lethen, sixty years old, pitched what was nearing the "has been" stage as a player before the present crop of baseball experts were born.

* * *

Matty McIntyre leads the American League by two points batting, his total being sixteen. He has taken a long lead in the matter of runs. Eddie Collins is next, with twelve extra. He has a homer and four two-baggers.

* * *

Frank Isbell seems to have beaten Jiggs Donohue out of the first place on the Chicago White Sox team. They are even now, for Jiggs pulled off the same stunt that Isbell did in getting three hits in one game. Isbell was not batted down, but Donohue seems to lose out for the same cause.

* * *

Pete Noonan, former Cub catcher, is wanted by Manager Hitchings of the Wilkesbarre team holds the contract, and will not allow him to go South if they get their price.

SUMMER FOES OF BEAUTY—

Mme. Cavalieri, the famous beauty, gives in next Sunday's AMERICAN a whole page of plans to resist them.

LAJOIE SAYS TAKE CHANCES AND WIN

"You will find that every man who is considered a baseball star became a star because he took chances. You never know what balls you can get until you go after them. The ball may hit a pebble and take a lucky bound and you will find that you can make an easy play. I have succeeded in getting many balls that looked impossible to me when I started after them. I didn't have much trouble in getting them, but they were remembered as good catches and stops simply because the chance looked impossible. The fellow who lets will get those balls that others would call 'impossible,' and doing the 'impossible' is what makes ball players."

This is part of the baseball wisdom of Napoleon Lajoie. The "king" of second catchers made the remark during a discussion on the occasion of the Naps' recent visit to Detroit.

JOCKEY POWERS TO RIDE FOR KEENE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 6.—Jockey Vic Powers, who is now riding at Churchill Downs as a free lance, will ride for James R. Keene during the summer months on the Eastern tracks. Powers received a letter from the great thoroughbred breeder in which all doubts as to whether Powers would be granted a license by the Eastern stewards were dispelled. Powers's most recent win of a stake race was when he piloted Wintergreen to victory in the Kentucky Derby.

Powers a couple of years ago was unheard of, but he started in at a high clip, and many predicted that he was only having a jockey's spurt but the youngster kept right on, and made a remarkable showing when pitted against such good boys as Shilling, Keogh, Pagan and Lee last Winter on the coast.

BAD ROADS RUIN RECORDS ON AUTO RUN

By J. C. KERRISON.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 6.—Not a single auto race car remains among those contending for the trifling points at which run of the Motor Club of Harrisburg, there having been a general smashing of records in the run from Harrisburg to this city yesterday.

This day's work was about the hardest, most exacting and difficult that I have ever witnessed. The road conditions were deplorable, there being virtually no bottom for the roads, the cars sinking into veritable quagmires as deep as the axles, and hubs of all but three of the cars; namely, the Pullman, Franklin and Maxwell runabout.

All the others got deep in the mud and mire, and the only marvel was that the three cars escaped that experience was on account of their lighter weight. All cars save one, the all-wooded Franklin, received penalizations for work performed on the roads, and it is said the remarkable record of going through without a single flaw. It was good work and proved the hearty applause of its competitors.

Roads Flooded.

The cause of the complete change in the complexion of the race yesterday is to be found in the condition of the roads and the time schedule. The first 109 miles was to Williamsport, along the banks of the Susquehanna, which has an extraordinary rise of twenty feet, having in some places overflowed its banks and making the roads around Williamsport awfully soft and deceptive. It was here also nowhere else on the course that the cars met their Waterloo.

Just to illustrate, only six cars finished the first control on time, but one, the Franklin, got to Williamsport in season to check in on time, and at the two remaining controls every single entrant was late, and the cars looked as though they had been through a seige of hard work, as they really had.

Pullman Hits a Dog.

The Olds, driven by Tom Berger, was penalized only for a tow and taking on gas outside of control. The Morton Pullman, heretofore a clean score car, hit a dog and had a broken axle to contend with that it had to be removed and soldered up, entailing a great penalization.

The Hardisty and Cocklin Pullmans have certainly no cause to be ashamed of their records, as they are standing up admirably under the hard work, the chief trouble being in lateness at controls. Goldthwaite had a run of bad luck, causing delays, but other than that the cars came through in good shape, and when she started this morning looked as well.

Walter White got his chief penalty of being late as the result of getting into a hole, as the road there was only towed. The Maxwell runabout had spring and tire trouble, but it should come through at all after the experience of the previous day should be glory enough.

The little six Thomas, up against great big chunks of hard luck and with-out-control breaks, is still running as a finisher.

The severity of the test can perhaps be best understood when it is known that the only official car to get through the whole run with good season was William Grunpeer's Thomas big six, which is the official car of Referee R. H. Johnston.

Standing of Cars.

The standing of the cars in the several classes, with total score, to date is:

CLASS A.

Car.	Driver.	Penalty Points.
Franklin, C. S.	Cerris	374
Pullman, Morton		374

CLASS B.

Pullman, A. R.	Cocklin	45
Maxwell, Walter W.	Dingley	82
Maxwell, Goldthwaite		82

CLASS C.

Peerless, Barnshaw	50
Pullman, Hardisty	199

CLASS D.

Pullman, Goodman	236
Maxwell, Ivy	538

These ten are the cars remaining in the race, and the other four of the original starters—the Thomas, Rambler, Middleby and White—having retired, and now pose as tourists.

The last leg of the test was started at 7 o'clock this morning on an eighteen-mile schedule to the first control, and to replace the schedule will be changed.

The trip will be a hard one, as all the cars must climb Giant's Despair, one of the worst hills in the section.

TRILBY IN REAL LIFE—Graphic story in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

TWELVE STARS IN NEW YORK'S BIG MARATHON

NEW YORK, May 6.—Twelve of the premier long distance runners of the world will gather at the Polo Grounds to-morrow and battle for the supremacy of the track. This is the second Derby international Marathon, worth $10,000, to be run within a comparative short time, but the present race is high above the previous one in class and contains new entrants and eliminates those who have been taught by experience that they are not Marathon runners. There are at present twelve entries, but it is not like that any one entered to-morrow. The following will contend: St. Yves, Chut and Orphee of France; Simpson, the Indian; White of Ireland; Felix Carvarjal, Cuba; Appleby, England; Dorando Pietri, Italy; Matt Maloney, Irish-American; Strandberg, Sweden; Crooks, American; John D. Marsh, Canada.

Nine old time Marathon faces are absent. Tom Longboat, the Indefatigable Indian, may enter to-morrow, but it is extremely doubtful. Alfred Shrubb declares that he will never run over a Marathon course again because he can't go the distance. Johnny Hayes also refused to enter.

The two favorites are St. Yves, the winner of the last International Marathon, and John D. Marsh, who recently beat St. Yves' time in Canada by a minute and 2 2-3 seconds. Upon this occasion Marsh run in a snow storm over a muddy soggy track. There is a great deal of quiet money being posted upon him by those who know his form. In the shorter race of 15 miles St. Yves was beaten by Shrubb at the American Park.

Carvarjal is a sort of Rube Waddell, Bugs Raymond and Longboat rolled into one. He is so eccentric that he is just as likely to start to run backward around the track as he is to run forward. He would have won the St. Louis Marathon event, had he not run an appletree and climbed it to eat apples while the other racers rushed by. In the Athens Olympic games Carvarjal refused to go any further than Italy. He said he wouldn't go before Italy for all the Olympic games ever produced. He used to be a mail carrier in the interporte in Cuba and got his running experience dodging bullets.

Dorando, the old standby, will be on hand in all his glory and red pants. He is almost sure to be in the money too. The inscrutable St. Yves is as mysterious as ever. He may win and he may not.

MEN OF MONEY TO PLAY BASEBALL

For the first time in as many years the members of the Boston Stock Exchange and those of the New York Stock Exchange will meet on the baseball diamond. Picked nines from the best players in both exchanges, are members of the rival teams.

Boston has been winning from New York has won two. This year the rubber is to be played on Saturday, May 22, at 2:30, in the American League Baseball Park, Fenway. The batteries of both exchanges are to hold a big dinner and ball at the Hotel Somerset. Hundreds have attended the games so far, and the rubber is expected to draw as large, if not a larger, crowd of all.

The Boston brokers' nine is mainly made up of former Harvard men, while that of New York is largely composed of Yale grads.

NEWSIES HANG MEDAL ON BAT

Battling Nelson still has many loyal friends. The Mayor of Hegewisch, as he styles himself, who is showing at one of the theatres in Rochester, N. Y., was last night presented with a handsome gold medal by the Newsboys' Benevolent Association. Here is what Bat wires from Rochester:

"After doing my boxing bouts at the Corinthian Theatre last night I was taken completely off my feet with surprise by being presented with a handsome solid gold medal by the Rochester Newsboys' Benevolent Association in commemoration of the favor they considered I did them by leading the 'grand march' at their fourth annual ball. The gold medal as a token is appreciated a great deal more by me than a thousand dollar bill, especially considering the donors."

That oxygen habit is spreading among the fighters and claims are made in its favor for its recuperating effect in ring battles which may be true if the results are authentic.

In my day such artificial restoratives would have been cast aside. The fresh outdoor ozone was the only kind of stimulant that the fighters needed to support their loss of stamina.

A friend of mine has just sent me an interesting account of the McVey-Jeannette contest in Paris in which the winner got next to the oxygen can and thereby saved his bacon. He says:

"Oxygen played the most important part in the fight." Jeannette took an unmerciful beating in the first thirty rounds. Every time he was sent to the floor he took the full count. At least ten or fifteen times he was sent down and two or three times he just struggled to his feet as the stroke of nine was being counted. But the men in Jeannette's corner were scientific, if nothing else, and they resorted to Young Corbett's plan of pumping in a supply of oxygen, supplied by tanks under the pipe form.

"Every time Jeannette came back, after he had been on the floor picking strawberries, they fed him the stuff that makes new life and blood. For thirty rounds they did this. McVey was trying his hardest to beat the oxygen. He would send Jeannette to the dickies from a hard bump on the jaw, and when the bell would ring Jeannette had to be packed off to his corner. But after he got through drinking in from the big hose at the end of the oxygen tank, he would be like a new gladiator, just starting on his mission.

"McVey tried hard to put Jeannette beyond the influence of the stuff, but no matter how badly off Jim was when going in for a rest, he came out as chipper as a lark. When the thirtieth round came Jeannette was still there and getting stronger every time they tapped the tank.

"After the thirteenth round Jeannette was stronger. McVey started to back up. From then on he battled the men of the mysterious vapor they sent into Joe. From the thirtieth round on Joe had his man. McVey, big and strong, saw his great name before the French sporting public slipping away from him. He fought back like a black fury. But it did no good. You couldn't whip a new man every round, and McVey vows that it was like fighting fifty men, one after another. Finally McVey's seconds were compelled to toss up the sponge to save the champion of Paris. After thirty rounds he held the laurels. After that, the new life that Joe had been taking in showed, and the Oxnard giant was beaten."

Answers to Letters.

John L. Sullivan:

Dear Sir—Please tell me how the baseball teams in this country percentages as for instance ten out, lose nine equals 1,000 per cent? Also tell me if Willus Britt will succeed C. S. M. Newport, R. I.

That is easy arithmetic. Not even an eartbquake could kill Willus Britt. He is recovering slowly, from his recent attack, at a New York hospital.

John L. Sullivan:

Dear Sir—Please tell me the approximate attendance at the Shrubb-Ft. Yres race, April 24, in New York?

Providence.

Attendance was estimated at 7,000.

John L. Sullivan:

Dear Sir—Please tell me if Joe Walcott ever fought Harry Lansing of Canada and if so how many rounds the go was to and what date it was? I use your name as I intend to enter the amateur boxing game this fall?

Waltham.

According to his old manager, Billy Plimmer, Walcott never fought Lansing. About using my name, shall expect pretty good results if you resume it.

'LIL ARTHA' HAD MANY MANAGERS

Jack Johnson, the "Black Pearl," who is peer of the silweights class in the fighter-slaughing game, is the champion manager discarder of the world.

Zeke Abrams in Frisco, Lew Bailey in Philadelphia, Sam Fitzpatrick in Australia and fifty-seven unidentified have all been the manager of Johnson.

Every time Jack sees a pleasing face or an unpnicked bank roll he adopts a new manager, and keeps walking on the mat until he wears the welcome off, and then he goes out and digs up another manager.

During that inartistic and depressing period when he was the big gun at the old Broadway A. C. in Philadelphia Jack used to visit Harry Edwards of the National A. C. and turn on this kind of bunning:

"Mornin', Mistah Edwards." This was Johnson's opening wunn.

"Nice day, Jack." This was Edwards's reply.

"I am goin' to be dish champeen someday, Mistah Edwards, an' I wants yuh to be mah manager."

"Too busy, Jack."

"Less me a dollah, for I got to feed dis day, for I fights nex' week."

"Here's the feed money, Jack. Now go out and hook a live manager."

"Manager you'se sawcy guy, Mistah Edwards. Ah see yuh later."

Johnson worked this gag many times and oft before he landed on his feet.

ARE OUTLAWS NOW FOR THREE YEARS

NEW YORK, May 6.—Joe Nealon, Mclard Pfyl, Elmer Strickler and Tommy Sheehan will have the pleasure of playing with the outlaws for the next three years. These four pastimers are connected with the California State League, but the major leagues have title to their services. Nealon is a contract jumper, for the former Pirate, after receiving permission to stay on the coast a year, signed first with a Pacific Coast league team at $500 a month, and then jumped to the outlaws for a $50 increase. Strickler and Sheehan are the property of the Brooklyns. Cates belongs to Washington and Pfyl to the Giants. All have visited the reserve rule. If they joined the clubs operating under the national agreement yesterday the National Commission will reinstate them on the payment of a small fine. If they still are with the outlaws they will have to remain with them for the next three years.

Johnny Kling of the Cubs is no contract jumper, though he has signed for this season with Chicago. Kling is in the same class with Chief Bender—he merely has failed to report to his team. That means a fine of $100 which he does report. Of course should Kling join an outlaw club he would be kept out of organized baseball for five years.

'CYCLONE BURNS WINS FROM JACK SHARKEY

A wrestling match that will go down into history as one of the most stubbornly contested ever witnessed in this city took place at the Columbia Theatre last night, when Cyclone Burns of Norwood and Jack Sharkey of New York battled for supremacy at the catch-as-catch game.

Burns won the first fall in twenty-one minutes, after a bout that kept the fans constantly on the edge because of the pace set by both men. But the real excitement and enthusiasm broke loose in the second bout, which was won by Sharkey in twenty-six minutes with a toe hold. The crowd simply could not restrain its feelings, and stood and cheered the splendid work of both men for fully five minutes.

The third and deciding bout went to Burns in eleven minutes. The Cyclone evidently made up his mind that in order to win he must outspeed his man and beat him to it, and he finally landed his man on his shoulders with an armlock and body hold. It was unquestionably one of the best matches of the year.

Next week Walter Willoughby of Cleveland and Jim Galvin of Brooklyn, N. Y., will meet on the mat in a finish match.

99 ROUND BOUT WANTED BY NELSON

CHICAGO, May 6.—Battling Nelson sprung a surprise yesterday on his retirement from theatrical tour in the East when he announced that he positively would fight Johnny Thompson July 5 at Colma instead of Packy McFarland. The Dane declared that Packy would be taken on September 9, but that the latter would have to consent to a few changes in the original articles for the fight.

The Thompson-Nelson go will be the most unique bout ever staged. Each has great respect for the endurance of the other, and for that reason they have decided to battle ninety-nine three-minute rounds. This will be the longest ring battle round bout ever staged, and both men are confident that they will be on their feet at the end. Supposing it goes the limit, what will the referee do? Finally landed his man on his shoulders with an armlock and body hold. It was unquestionably one of the best matches of the year.

Next week Walter Willoughby of Cleveland and Jim Galvin of Brooklyn, N. Y., will meet on the mat in a finish match.

GOOD BOUTS SCHEDULED.

The Faneuil Club presents a good card in its weekly entertainment to-morrow night, the main bout of ten rounds being between Mickey McDonough of Brookline and Jerry Gaines of Cambridge. In the preliminaries Billy Griffin and Jack Mulkern are booked for six rounds, while Billy Delaney of Northboro meets Johnny Carlile of the South End in the semi-final round go.

McDonough recently got quite a name for himself in having a 12-round draw with Sailor Burke. Around New York welter and middleweights are fighting shy in taking him on. He likes nothing the verdict over Gaines and then striking after the best men in the business.

Reports from the Gaines camp show their man is confident, he being in the pink of condition. He intends carrying the battle to his opponent from the tap of the gong, believing in this way he will secure the decision in quick order.

ANOTHER BOUT FOR NEIL.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 6.—Messer Quigley of the Peerless Athletic Club of this city has matched Frankie Neil, the clever Californian featherweight, to go ten rounds with Bert O'Donnell of this city, who recently bested Yankee Schwartz of Philadelphia in a six-round go. O'Donnell has been trimming some of the best boys in the business, and Neil, Quigley believes, will give the local fighter a hard battle on cost. The bout will take place here on May 14.

ALFRED HENRY LEWIS presents another of his inimitable cloak room tales in next SUNDAY'S BOSTON AMERICAN.

MURPHY BESTS GLOVER.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Tommy Murphy of Harlem out-pointed, out-generaled and out-everythinged Mike Glover of Boston in their ten-round bout in the Lenox A. C. For six rounds Glover stalled, talked, laughed and joked and held on, and lasted the scheduled ten rounds by his holding tactics.

MOTOR CLUB CONCERT.

The opening concert of the Commonwealth Motor and Driving Club at Mt. Auburn last evening was attended by about 200 members. A band gave a program of popular melodies, and many members entertained at dinner parties, tables being spread on the piazzas.

Where Love Proves Tragedy

Does It Pay to Sacrifice All for an Infatuation?

Copyright, 1908, by American-Journal-Examiner

A THOUGHTLESS and silly young wife indulges in a foolish flirtation and encourages the attention of the type of man who likes to make husbands jealous. The unhappy husband magnifies the misfortune which has befallen him in possessing a wife with very little common sense or dignity and kills himself.

In all probability he kills himself with the intention of having his wife accused of murder. There would be a morbid satisfaction to some men in such an act.

The wife is cleared of the accusation in the eyes of the law, but she is left with a tarnished name and a lifelong shadow over her life.

Did the satisfaction she found in flirtation pay?

A woman met a married man years ago; he was separated from his wife, but not divorced. The woman, a mere girl of twenty, decided to give up the world for the love of this man; she felt she could not live without him; she believed her life was her own to do with as she pleased.

And so she lived with her lover and bore him six children. He called her his wife, and her associates believed her to be so. Always has the dread been in her heart since she became a mother that her secret might some day be known to her children.

Shame Visited on Children

Recently it was made public by the wife, who evidently deserved to be deserted, or she could not have deliberately brought such pain upon innocent children.

A really loving woman, the kind of a woman who would make a man cling to her through life and death, could not have it in her heart to bring sorrow and shame on little children, no matter how she hated the father.

The legal wife always has the better of the common-law wife in the eyes of the world; and however she may wish to punish the common-law wife, if she is at heart a true, womanly woman, she will save little children from pain. But this wife did not shield them, and the story has come to their ears.

Has the common-law wife found enough happiness in her years of love life with this man, and in the bearing of his children, to pay her for giving up the world and defying its conventions?

A bright and good girl encouraged a man to give up his wife and child, and to make her his soulmate, by marriage, as well as by the "divine law of love," which she believed brought them together.

Loss of Ideals Brings Pain

After her child was born she fled from the man and is now trying to obtain her freedom. She is disillusioned.

Was it worth while?

Would it not have resulted in greater happiness, or at least in less misery to all these women had they used self-control in the beginning of their infatuation and kept to their highest ideals of life—the ideals they fought against and smothered with the hand of desire?

Would renunciation, the highest proof of love, have caused them so much misery as possession has caused them and theirs?

You who are facing similar temptations, pause and think awhile.

Is it worth while to "have what you want when you want it" at any sacrifice?

If Paris Lived To-day—By Nell Brinkley

No. 4—Would he give this Celtic-Spanish Beauty the apple marked "For the Fairest"?

"Her eyes were b ig and sombre and black, with an add smear of shadow."

THIS mournful-eyed, sooty-haired Hettina who sits behind me at the show yesterday night on a bit kiddie I know says). She sat at an easy angle.

If you are a bit of an artist, even just the kind that you wish you were one, and like faces, heaps of times you have more glorious and raptures over the ones rudely flung around you out in the dim place than over the ones that struggle along the flooding light of the hidden floodlights. Well! I haven't made her so pretty as she was. If I could put on some color maybe then I could.

I glowed her with my eyes all through the show and made up the tale of what she might be like—the heart of her, and the things behind the gloom of her eyes, and what she liked, and what she could do. And—pull your shoulders up to your honorable ears and flare out your hands—maybe my little weaving is all the wrong color. But this is the middle-passionate Paris and I gazed loyally at until the show let out.

She was one of those types that the old and rich Continent has helped to mould—into the oval and the old ivory and the moist eyes and the black hair that they are. Her father I reckon was Irish—bold-eyed—white skinned—inky haired.

Her mother was Spanish, the languid, purple-haired Spanish woman with the swooning, dreamy eyes. And almost scented with romance!

And so this outside of the girl to the eye was the slightly thin skin of her father, and the dusk of her mother—the gloom and the mysticism of her father, with the languor and the romance of her mother—the instreless black of her father's hair, and the purple sheene, like a bird's wing, of her mother's. And the grace of the two in her body.

Her eyes were big and sombre and black—with the odd smear of shadow under the lower lid, that looks like makeup, which some girls have—the lashes on the lower lids are so thick.

Her mouth wasn't red nor her cheeks!—but that odd dusty pink—an delicate as may be—and the mouth still with the tone as of a veil drawn over it. Her mouth drooped at the corners and was so pensive in her eyes.

Her hair was the deep black that has blue lights in the high lights of the waves of it.

The same blueness showed under the skin around her new-moon-crescent eyebrows and where the hair grew around her face.

Her face was high in the cheek-bones, but it sloped gently to a pear-shaped oval and a round, long chin and the chin must have been made for velvet bonnet-strings—it was so silken and smooth and tender and had such a way of tucking down into the roof of her throat! And, but, I reckon He didn't think of bonnet strings when the Dear God made it.

Her skin was the pallid but rich color of old ivory—with a tinge of yellow in it, and a blue and burnt brown look where her hair grew around her temples and neck.

Her neck was fragile and little around, and she turned it like a bird does. Her nose was a thoroughbred little fellow—thin-nostrilled, aristocratic and smooth with powder.

The look of her whole long, little face was of the kind girl who said, "I have been sorrowful."

Her hands were slim, like her face.

She didn't talk very often to the engrossed Billy who'd come along.

And then was the heart made of her that maybe is all wrong.

For I looked at the heart of her father and the breath of her mother. With her mind back where he face ought to be—in the wonder days of the Round Table and the Knights of Arthur and the women they knew.

And maybe kind-hearted—but she doesn't think to be much. A little haughty, but tenderer than she is haughty. And a heart for all beauty of the world in any image, and a jealous silence about her longing for it.

And she's religious—deep down, even if she doesn't make preachments and hike with a stiff-starched mind to the Cathedral every Sunday morning—religious with a secret love for the ceremonies and the beauty and the wonder of religion with that same reverential (sacrelligious to some folks) love for religion that an artist has.

And I made my tale say that she has some fire of genius in her hands. Maybe she's shy and it won't ever slip out of her finger tips, and, then, too, maybe she makes some beautiful thing with 'em. Maybe she makes pies—maybe music—maybe she holds the "little black devil that scratches up a row in the world," and writes! Maybe she sings—little French songs with love in 'em, and Italian ones with the moonlight and a fainting melody—maybe Irish ones with a troubled understone and the mountain wildness to them—maybe—but, maybe my tale is a weaving that's all the wrong color! And um-m-m-m, but I wanted her to be all this!

And maybe it's that she was only in love that her eyes were so mournful—and it's that it wasn't the right Billy, that she didn't talk to him much.

Paris tossed his gilded apple from hand-hollow to hand-hollow and mused; for her lips were sweet!

Don't Grow Up Too Soon, Girls

"Girlhood Is a Very Sweet Period in a Woman's Life"

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE parting had already lasted half an hour, as I, who sat writing near an open window in the next house, could tell.

"Well," said the girl, going slowly up the steps, "I must go. Good-by."

"Oh, don't go yet," pleaded the boy eagerly; "we haven't talked a minute."

"A minute!" scoffed the girl. "We've been here a good half hour, I'm sure."

How is it that girls are never oblivious of the flight of time in such circumstances, while men always are?

"Well, never mind, I just wanted to say——"

"Good-by," laughed the girl mischievously, and went up another step.

"To-night," Pleaded the Boy

"Please don't go," said the boy, following her up the steps in his earnestness. "When will I see you again?"

"Oh, I don't know; to-morrow, perhaps," demurely.

"To-morrow! Not before that; that's much too long," said the boy, masterfully.

"No," said the girl, "it's just a few hours, and you'll have to wait."

"To-night," said the boy.

"To-morrow," said the girl.

"I'm coming to-night."

"Well, good-by. See you to-morrow." The girl's hand was on the doorknob by this time.

"Good-by. I'm coming over about 8 o'clock this evening," said the boy firmly and finally.

The girl said nothing, but as she disappeared in the gloom of the hallway she turned her head around and smiled. It was a non-committal smile, but I think the boy called that evening, don't you?

They had interrupted my work for half an hour and I had shamelessly listened to the pretty comedy. It was love in embryo, but love at that age is only real while it lasts, and sometimes the love that begins at sixteen lasts beyond the sixties and right to the gates of the great unknown. A sincere friendship between young girls and boys is an excellent thing for both.

The girls teach the boys gentleness and courtesy; the boys help the girls to be free from affection and silliness.

All I would advise the young people is not to indulge in any silly kissing games or nonsense of that kind. Be content to be friends and wait until you are older for the love making.

It is bound to come, you know, for every girl in the world has her day of love.

When the Little Ships Go Astray

Sometimes the little ships of happiness go astray and all that is left of the wreckage is a lonely spinster, but there are more happy wives than lonely old maids, you know, so you must just take your chances.

Meet your boy friends in your own home, not on street corners.

Your parents cannot be bothered with having the parlor full of boys every evening, but I am sure they won't mind it once a week, say. And more than once a week would be bad for lessons, which are the most important thing for you to think about these days.

Introduce your boy friends to your mother and have as merry a time as possible, but don't grow up too soon, dears. You can only be little girls once, and girlhood is a very sweet period of a woman's life.

Ballade of Painful Eminence

By KENNETT HARRIS.

YOU perhaps have had many successes,
You may hold to position the key,
But they'll say you've made fortunate guesses;
They have hinted the same thing of me.
It is sad all this envy to see;
It's indeed calculated to shock you;
But I care not how great you may be,
You will always find some one to knock you.

I'VE a very dear friend who confesses
Since he climbed to the top of the tree
He has suffered the greatest distresses,
And from care he can never be free.
When you're high as my friend, the decrees
Of adverse fate in all lower shall mock you.
Though he's bending the supplliant knee,
You will always find some one to knock you.

IT'S a world full of Judas caresses;
It's a crafty old world, you'll agree,
And life grind will out seldom possesses,
Well I know it, from A clear to Z.
It depends on the size of the fee
If your pathway is smoothed or they knock you.

From detraction you never can flee;
You will always find some one to knock you.

L'ENVOI.

Man Behold, don't YOU chuckle with glee
That with kindness your friends overstock you,
Though a chance is the whole of your plea,
You will always find some one to knock you.

LOOKING AHEAD.

Fenshaw—I hear you are to see Colonel Swinger, Mrs. Grasse. He's a noble fellow, every inch a soldier, born to command.

Widow Grasse—H'm! We'll see about that, Mr. Fenshaw; we'll see about that.

Education in the Sick Room

By ADA PATTERSON

WHEN some one with glowing cheeks and brilliant eyes and a springy step says:

"I have never been ill in my life." I think, "What an education in the real things of life you have lost! What discipline you have missed!"

For, as we look at the world through the windows of a sick room, we learn the lesson of helplessness.

In health we are, or should be, mightily self-reliant. But illness lays our spirits low. We who had thought we were world conquerors conclude that we are puny atoms. That sense, though a passing one, is chastening.

A New Sense of Values

Looking with tired, longing eyes through the windows of a sick room at the hurrying world outside, we learn a new sense of values. The cumbries in our lives seem trivial, the friendships great.

Those whom we love seem very close to us; those we hated very far off. We know what before we had not known—that the friendships we have formed have been the sweet, green plants in the garden of life.

To our vision, as we peer day after day through those windows upon the kaleidoscope which is life, comes a new clearness.

We understand many things that had puzzled us. One of these is the egotism of invalids. In the contest of our strength we had thought them borne. We had tired of their ailments, been exasperated by the recital of their symptoms.

The Esteem That Skill Deserves

Through the sickroom window, "o see another truth, the esteem that gres. skill deserves. The physician or surgeon who comes every day to our bedside to mend the battered craft for another voyage—what reverence is due him for work well done!

There flies through the sickroom window a guest we may never before have entertained. It is patience. We have expended our energies in doing. Now we use them in bearing. It captures our minds and pervades our hearts, this new power to bear that condition which we cannot alter, to bear it quietly, bravely, with no outward flinching.

We look through the sickroom windows again, but it is from the other side. We are taking our place, though it be with feeble steps, in the march of life, and this look through the windows is a backward one. The world is big and joyous. The sickroom at which we are taking the backward glance was little and full of pain.

How the Wheat Puzzle Is Solved

THE baker's puzzling question as to the size of the consumer's five-cent loaf of bread in the event of high-priced flour continuing is answered by bread-eaters and panelists as follows:

In ordinary times the miller paid $4.50 for four and one-half bushels of wheat, the product of which made a barrel of flour, which he sold to the baker for $5.00, thus clearing fifty cents, or one-ninth of the cost. Paying $6.25 per bushel for his wheat, under Patten prices, the barrel of flour costs him $6.75. Adding his one-ninth profits of sixty-three cents, he sells the barrel to the baker for $6.50.

In ordinary times the baker sold 300 five-cent loaves of bread out of his 49 barrel of flour, thus clearing another 500 per cent, gross profit upon the cost price. Paying $6.50 for the barrel of flour, the baker must get $18.90 for it in bread, in order to realize his 500 per cent. profit. The 300 fourteen-ounce loaves from a barrel of flour would show the capacity of a barrel to be 1,200 ounces in breadstuff. Five cents into $18.90 gives 378 as the number of five-cent loaves he must get out of his barrel. Then dividing 4,200 by 378 gives eleven and one-ninth ounces as the weight of a loaf of bread under high-priced conditions, which is the answer to the problem.

Chase & Sanborn's
HIGH GRADE TEAS AND COFFEES

Metaphors

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

THE oppressors' feet are on our necks; we feel their fiery breath;
In tones of thunder they cry out their messages of death.
Our pallid cheeks are faint with fear; they whisper seek to fly;
But ah! the hand that stays them bears a sword, forbidding eye,
And ere the rings of our alarm have borne us from the fray
Their lagging knees sink under them; their hearts' blood fades away.

BUT see! A rescuer is here! Within his heart there throbs no fear.
A fire that is watered by the base avenger's spurns;
An arrow dents from out his eye, that never is in with fear.
But lights the lamp of victory that echoes far and near.
Hope wakes again within us with a glad and glittering gleam—
We know in the Slough of our Despond was nothing but a dream.

OUR prostrate form now waves in air.
Our eyes with glad acclaim
Shout from the very housetops our heroic valiant keel
We mount the steed of victory; beneath his the stars of triumph cleave the waves and an end on we reel.
And like the mighty comet, moved by wild and strange unrest,
We sink to sheltered quietude within our feathered nest.

Smiles

MRS. SHARPE (severely)—Norah, I can find only seven of these plates. Where are the other five?

Cook (in surprise)—Sure, mum, don't you make no allowance for ordinary wear an' tear?

SENIOR PARTNER—Keep a sharp eye on Holdfast. I'm afraid he's robbing the firm.

Junior Partner—Eh? Is he living extravagantly?

Senior Partner—Well, I passed him in the street yesterday, and he was smoking a cigar that didn't smell at all bad.

"MR. Rashleigh at home?"

"No, sir; he's just gone away for three months."

"Why, how's that? He told me he was not going away till next week."

"Yes, sir; but you see he didn't know that his trial was coming on yesterday."

"BRIDGET," said Mrs. Ilfram Offer, sternly, "on my way home just now I saw that policeman who was in the kitchen with you so long last evening, and I took occasion to speak to him——"

"Oh, shure, that's all roight, ma'am. O'm not the loiser."

"NOW," said the warden to the forger who had just arrived at the prison, "we'll set you to work. What can you do best?"

"Well, if you'll give me a week's practice on your signature I'll sign your official papers for you," said the prisoner.

You'll Sometime Use Van Camp's Milk

The change from the milkman comes slowly sometimes. But it comes. One cannot resist the facts long. There are too many reasons against raw milk—too many for using Van Camp's. Soon or late, you'll change.

Ask some of your neighbors who have changed already. There are hundreds of them, perhaps.

Try to get them to go back to the milkman after they've used Van Camp's.

Get them to buy milk from day to day when they now have a cow in their kitchen.

Get them to cook with a half-milk again. Or to use milk laden with germs.

It is hard, sometimes, to win one from the milkman. But it is utterly impossible to get one to go back.

No Disease Germs

The bane of raw milk is disease germs. For any germ in milk breeds with frightful rapidity.

There may be germs of consumption from tubercular cows, which are common. Infections may come from diseased milkmen or from dirty dairies.

These germs make raw milk the most terrible foe of humanity. For one thing, two-thirds our infant mortality is due to them.

Van Camp's milk is germless.

Our cow's are inspected; so are the men who milk them. Our dairies are sanitary. Our buildings are built without wood. We make a business of cleanliness.

Then Van Camp's is pasteurized after the cans are sealed. Not a germ of any kind can remain in it.

Nothing But Milk

Van Camp's is simply rich Holstein milk, with two-thirds the water evaporated. Nothing whatever is added. Nothing is subtracted save water.

It's not a peculiar milk.

Our cows are the finest breed. Our dairies are in the best dairying sections. Our milk is evaporated while it is fresh.

That slight almond flavor—apparent only when the milk is drunk cold—is due to sterilization. It means nothing added. It indicates simple purity.

When you heat the milk—as in cooking or coffee—the almond flavor disappears. Yet have then the natural flavor of milk or cream, save our surprising richness.

Six Cents Per Quart

Van Camp's is as thick as thick cream—so thick that you add one part water for coffee. Yet it doesn't cost half what you pay your milkman for cream.

Add two parts water and you have rich milk. The cost of such milk, when you buy Van Camp's by the case, is but six cents per quart.

Then you have no waste—no milk left over. That saving, in itself, is enormous.

So you have a cow in your kitchen—rich milk or cream whenever you want it. And it costs less than hand-to-mouth buying.

You have a pure, rich milk for less than you pay your milkman.

Matchless Milk Dishes

Just make one milk dish with Van Camp's. Note the wonderful flavor and richness. Then you'll forever use it.

Yet that flavor is not artificial. It comes solely from the whole, rich milk.

You are used to cooking with half-milk—you who buy from the milkman. For milkman's milk separates, before and after you get it.

The butter fat rises; the solids fall. You get so you don't know what whole milk means.

You get all the milk in Van Camp's.

But Be Careful

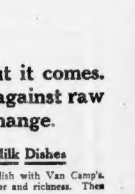
Condensed milk is half sugar. You can't use it for cooking. Don't think that Van Camp's is like that.

And don't think that all evaporated milks are alike.

Van Camp's Milk shows about 8 per cent of butter fat. That's because we use Holstein milk, and take out two-thirds the water.

But milk less rich, and with more water left in, may still be called "evaporated."

If you'll compare Van Camp's with other brands, you will see what a difference there is. Yet others cost as much as Van Camp's.



Van Camp's Milk comes in 5 and 10-cent cans, at your grocer's. It is put up at our dairies, in five states, where we milk 20,000 Holstein cows.

SOCIETY

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Such a glowing lot of girls as greet us these days!

And it's this way:

Some gloomy prophet predicted rain and much of it.

But he smartest girls in our smart set are turning it all to golden and glorious account. They have bled them to their tailors and other specialists and, lo! they come forth with simply ravishing rainy day wardrobes and wild weather frocks.

These modern "maids o' the mist"—such of them as are still in town—come bounding down the boulevards in pelting showers, exhaling the very spirit and joy of Spring as they emerge from these marvelous May baptisms, refreshing and radiant as rain-drenched roses.

Among those who indulge in these delightful "beauty baths" are the three belles call them, are Miss Margaret Thomas, whom I saw yesterday coming down the avenue at almost breakneck speed, but looking perfectly lovely—her eyes glistening, her cheeks glowing and her pretty dark hair in curls about her face.

Another girl, whose bright eyes and peerless complexion attest to the virtues of the bath, is Leslie Bradley, the daughter of the Robert S. Bradleys, who is one of the most ardent of its devotees, and who was of a group of girls out yesterday enjoying to the full their daily walk, which bordered closely on a run.

Other devotees of the new kind of aquatic sports are Miss Ruth Winsor, Miss Barbara Burr, Miss Juliet Higginson, Miss Dorothy Ball and Miss Elinor Quincy, and so, rain or shine, our Back Bay girls just smile and smile and look their loveliest through it all.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stockton, with their charming daughter, Miss Molly Stockton, who have been the guests of Mrs. Stockton's father, Mr. Charles Head, at his home on Beacon street, are planning to open their home at Manchester the 12th. Mr. Head will spend the Summer with his other daughter, Mrs. William Russell, at her North Shore villa.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins and their family are closing their home in Washington on the 25th and coming to their Summer place at Beverly Farms.

* * *

Mrs. James McMillan, who has gone over to England to spend the early Spring with her son-in-law and daughter, Sir John and Lady Harrington, plans to return in the early Summer to occupy her beautiful estate at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

* * *

Mrs. T. B. Williams with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Sears and their two daughters will go the last of the week to their estate at Cohasset.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lyman of Marlboro street have been spending much of the Spring at Pinehurst, North Mass. Lyman's mother, Mrs. Samuel Cabot of Commonwealth avenue has established her country home. The Lymans plan to sail for Europe a little later in the season.

* * *

Miss Annie Lyman will return from Europe the first of June and will go immediately to her Webster avenue villa at Newport.

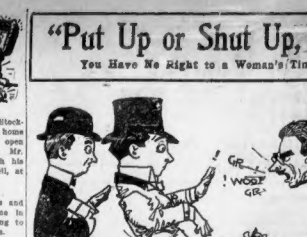
The Edwin Hills of Marlboro street are among the Bostonians who are to spend the coming Summer at Mattapoisett, where they have a beautiful country home. Mrs. Fitch E. Oliver of Brimmer street is also to pass the Summer there.

"Put Up or Shut Up, Boys"—By Dorothy Dix

You Have No Right to a Woman's Time Unless You Intend to Ask Her to Marry



"Many a girl loses the chance to make a fine marriage by this dog-in-the-manger attitude of some selfish man"

I GET a great many pathetic letters from girls asking me how they shall get back recreant sweethearts, or find out whether some man is really in love, or just amusing himself.

Always the burden of these letters is the same—he man whose attentions were without intention. Some good-looking young chap, with a soft tongue and a wheedling way with him, strolls across the girl's path and begins to divert himself by making love to her. He takes her to places. He buys her candy and flowers. He camps on her parlor chairs. He monopolizes her society.

He does everything to indicate his devotion except ask her to marry him and set the wedding day, and then, when all of the girls' friends' tongues are wagging about her marrying him, he saunters away as carelessly as he came.

Perhaps a newer and fresher face has attracted his fickle fancy. Perhaps he has gotten tired of the girl. Perhaps he has never at any time intended marrying her; and so he passes on, leaving the poor little maiden all forlorn, with her hurt heart and her broken pride, to grieve over her romance that never came to flower.

Of course, there are some men to whom any woman is fair game. These words are not for them.

But the majority of men mean well to ward women, and their sins against the weaker sex are the result of carelessness and ignorance rather than malice aforethought; and to these men in their sentimental dealings with women I would commend the gambler's motto—"Put up or shut up."

In plain words, no man has any right to make love to a woman, or even to take up much of her time with his society, unless he intends to ask her to marry him.

I am aware that this is not the masculine point of view. A man seems to think that he has a perfect right to amuse himself with any attractive woman that he can, and that he is doing a girl a favor, instead of an injury, by going to see her three or four nights a week, filling up her programme at a ball with his name, and always being her escort on public occasions.

If you represent to him that this may be an irreparable harm to her, he is shocked and indignant.

"Why," he exclaims, "don't give her a good time? Don't spend my money on taking her to the theatre and buying her suppers? It seems to me that we break even."

But they don't. Without intending it, he is blighting the girl's chances in life.

Youth is a woman's harvest time. It is when she is prettiest and most attractive to men, and if she doesn't make a good match then she never will. A man has up to fifty in which to marry and success in life and attain the comforts and luxuries that success brings.

A good marriage means success to the average woman. It is the way she obtains the comforts and luxuries of life, and practically she has only until she is twenty-six or twenty-seven years old in which to do that, for up to that time she may pick and choose her husband, but after that she must take with thanks whatever she can get.

Therefore, the man who monopolizes a woman's youth deliberately blocks her opportunity.

Here is where the platonic friend who is always on deck gets in his deadly work. His presence acts as an effectual quarantine in keeping away from the girl other men who might desire to marry her.

The young woman who is seen out constantly with the same man soon has nobody else with whom to go out, nor are callers likely to repeat their visits if they find some one particular man always sitting around in a possessive attitude in the girl's parlor.

Many a girl loses the chance to make a fine marriage on account of this dog-in-the-manger attitude of some selfish man, who did not want to marry her himself, but was willing to keep all other men away.

The Misery of Blighted Hopes

If a man pays much attention to a girl it naturally connects her name and his. People think they are engaged when they are not, and this causes the girl untold humiliation. It is mortifying to have one's friends ask you when the wedding day is to be, when a man has no intention whatever of saying "altar" to you.

Worst of all the effects of the attentions without intentions are the hopes that are raised only to be blighted, the love that is born in a woman's heart only to starve and die.

Many a girl knows what it is to be waiting with hungering despair for a word that will never be spoken.

Many a girl has known what it is to have this neglect turn to bitterness, and has watched, with a breaking heart, the man who only amused himself with her pass on to some other woman.

Many a lonely old maid can truly blame all that she has missed in life on some "sympathetic comradeship" that meant love for her, but only diversion for the man.

Many a married woman knows with bitter regret that all she can give to her husband is the loss and dregs of her affection, because she offered up the brimming cup of her love to the man who never really loved her at all, but only played at love.

The Test of a Man's Honor

When it comes to matters of the affections women are singularly unable to protect themselves. No girl has any way of knowing what a man's intentions are, and whether his serious business or is merely amusing himself.

Therefore it should be a particular point of honor with men to deal fairly with women about love, and this is especially the case when the girl is poor and has no worldly wise mother to stand between her and social deadbeats.

It is a temptation, of course, to monopolize the society of a pretty and attractive girl, but don't do it, brother, unless you are going to make good by asking her to marry you. Don't stand in the way of her marrying and settling herself comfortably for life.

Above all, don't make love to a girl unless you are ready to name the wedding day. Don't treat a woman's heart as a plaything for sport. The cruelty of that is more than murder.

In love-making as in gambling, "Put up or shut up."

I HAVE been reading some books on the various New Thought religions, trying to get some comfort from their theory that all is mind and divine Love. But it all seems so impersonal and abstract. I want the warm human love of my husband—the strength of his arms around me. The thought that some other woman lies there is killing me.

September 22.

EDITH CARRINGTON was here to-day. She stayed only a few hours, returning to Boston on the evening train. I did not know she was coming—she had not written or telegraphed—and I was out when she came.

At first she explained nervously that she had come over to do some shopping, and we talked for some time in a strained way. Then she said abruptly:

"Mary, I didn't come to shop. I came to talk to you. I thought it might help me—it did before."

"Nothing has happened?" I felt my heart sink with the old sickening sense of dread.

"Nothing definite, but I'm so worried and unhappy. Oh, I don't know what to do!"

I waited. I had no heart to question her.

"You know you said things couldn't go on this way indefinitely.

"I suppose in my heart I had some wild hope that they could, but I know now they cannot. I live in continued fear of some exposure—some crisis. And the most horrible part of all is that I feel whatever happens I will have to go through it alone. It is that sense of standing so alone that terrifies me."

"But surely, Edith——"

"Oh, I know what you are going to say—that he should stand with me and protect and shield me. And of course he would in every material way, but still I would be alone.

"How can I explain it so you will understand? If I say that I feel he is drawing away from me, that will give an impression that is much too strong, and she had gone I was filled with that same sense of loss and loneliness that had haunted me when I returned from Boston.

Backache? It's your Kidneys!

When the Kidneys Are Diseased the Whole System Becomes Deranged, Complications Set in and Serious Results are Sure to Follow.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

Mrs. Sallie B. Craig, Humboldt, Tenn., is loud in her praise of Warner's Safe Cure for curing her of Kidney and Bladder trouble after thirteen months of intense suffering.

Mrs. Craig writes: "I wish to tell you how much good Warner's Safe Cure has done me. I suffered terribly for thirteen months with kidney and bladder trouble. Our family physician said I was bordering on Bright's Disease. I had a severe pain in my right kidney most of the time, and I had inflammation of the bladder so bad I was hardly able to do my housework.

"The first bottle of Warner's Safe Cure that I took gave me relief. I am now taking the second bottle. The pain in my kidney is gone and I feel better than I have felt in several months.

"I recommend Warner's Safe Cure to anyone who is suffering from kidney and bladder trouble—I think it is a fine medicine."

IF IN DOUBT MAKE THIS TEST:

Put some morning urine in a glass or bottle, let it stand 24 hours. If there is a reddish sediment in the bottom of the glass, or if the urine is cloudy or milky, or if you see particles or germs floating about in it, your kidneys are diseased and you should get a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure at once.

ANALYSIS FREE.

If after making this test you have any doubt as to the development of the disease in your system, send a sample of your urine, putting your name and address on the package, to our Medical Department, and our doctors will analyze it and send you a report, with advice, and a valuable booklet free.

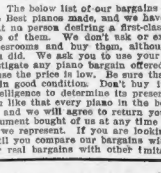
When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off, and this causes gout, lumbago, rheumatism of the joints, rheumatism of the muscles, rheumatism of the heart, rheumatism everywhere.

WARNER'S SAFE PILLS, sugar-coated, absolutely free from deleterious substances, a perfect laxative, will cure Indigestion, Biliousness, Torpid Liver and Constipation. They do not gripe.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE is put up in two sizes and is sold by all druggists, at 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. Refuse substitutes which contain harmful drugs that injure the system.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE. To convince every sufferer from disease of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood that the WARNER'S SAFE CURE will cure, a trial bottle will be sent absolutely FREE OF CHARGE, postpaid, to any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Rochester, N. Y., and mention having seen this liberal offer in the Boston American.

An Appeal To Your Intelligence



The below list of our bargains contains the names of some of the Best pianos made, and we have made the prices on them so low that no person desiring a first-class piano can afford to overlook any one of them. We don't ask or expect you to rush into our Storage Salesrooms and buy them, although you would make no mistake if you did. We ask you to use your intelligence and thoroughly investigate any piano bargain offered to you. Don't buy simply because the price is low. Be sure that the piano offered you elsewhere is in good condition. Don't buy it for its name alone. Use your intelligence to determine its present value. We guarantee to any one you like that every piano in the below list is as we represent it to be, and we will agree to return your money and take back any instrument bought of us at any time if conditions are not absolutely as we represent. If you are looking for a real bargain don't buy until you compare our bargains with others. Run in and compare our real bargains with other "imitation bargains."

$5 Down--$1 a Week

The gilded piano stores, with their costly appointments, their high-salaried men, their fancy clerks' commissions, etc., are no place for the economical piano buyer to go. Take the trouble to look around a little—it will pay—where the rents are some high and buy your piano right.

Amateur Gardener

TO have peas by June 17th you will do well to leave your order with the grocer on the morning to tell one another how full particulars as to whether you wish them fresh or canned.

To raise very large cabbages, cauliflowers or pumpkins a derrick is not at all necessary. Any good hired man of ordinary physical capacity should be able to raise them as high as you wish without serious damage to his spine.

When planting your pea seeds sow oats along with them. This will fool the crows, pigeons, horses and other insects that prey upon the garden when there is nobody around to shoo them away.

March backache will be saved beginners in gardening if they will remember to curb their enthusiasm and let the hired man do all the work.

Bone dust is good as a fertilizer. You will therefore do well to save all your family skeletons until Spring, and then after running them through the coffee grinder place them where they will do the most good.

If everything goes wrong with you always, no matter what you do, and you want a fine lawn, put in eight hours a day trying to raise weeds.

There is no use of trying to train cutworms to cut flowers for you. They are dull and lethargic to brain power and have the low taste to prefer cabbages to roses.

A two-by-five toad set in the middle of your garden will be a great assistance to you in the ridding it of insects. Don't get too big a toad. The capacity of a toad of the size specified is forty-seven cubic yards of insect to the minute.—Harper's Weekly.

The Spinet

By ANDREW LANG

MY heart's an old Spinet with strings

To laughter chiefly tuned, but some
That Fate has practised hard on, dumb,
They answer not whoever sings,
The ghosts of half-forgotten things,

Will touch the keys with fingers numb,
The little mocking spirits come
And thrill it with their fairy wings.

A JINGLING harmony it makes
My heart, my lyre, my old Spinet,
And now a memory it wakes,

And now the music means "Forget,"
And little heed the player takes.
However the thoughtful critic fret.

TRADE ENVOYS IN WATERVILLE

WATERVILLE, Me., May 6.—The Boston business men touring Maine on a special train cheered and were cheered by Waterville High School boys in the City Hall to-day.

The visitors were met by a delegation of seventy-five business men, headed by Mayor Frank Beddington. At the City Hall, Horace Purrinton, president of the Board of Trade, made a speech of welcome. Mayor Beddington followed. He said in part: "The State of Maine is a daughter of Massachusetts. She is very proud of her old mother and hopes the mother is not ashamed of the daughter. But Maine yields nothing to Massachusetts in energy, industry or intelligence."

Responses were made by Bernard J. Rothwell, George W. Coleman, Henry H. Carter and Henry W. Cumner of the visitors.

At an informal reception the Bostonians were presented to the Waterville bankers, manufacturers and other business leaders. The party will arrive back in Boston at 7.30 a.m. to-morrow.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS: FINANCIAL NEWS

WALL ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

WALL STREET, New York, May 6.—The important news developments are that the Steel Trust will soon order another advance in prices, and that the Supreme Court decision in the coal case has encouraged further combinations of important railroads.

So great seems to be the supply of money for investment that the list is being combed for bargains. There are a few left. Favorite investment purchases just now seem to be the enlarged stocks in both the railroads and industrials. Little fear is felt in regard to the very high bids. The Government report on Winter wheat will be made public on Friday of this week.

$ $ $

Everybody knows that the Winter situation is not what it ought to be, and this condition has apparently been thoroughly discounted in the grain and in the stock market. Grain in Chicago went yesterday to the highest figures of the season for the May option. Friends of Patten took these figures as a vindication of his course. The fact that an extra acreage of wheat is being planted, that a good grains will show record acreage has roused the crop report of all reviews. The supply of wheat is abundant, and the lateness of the planting does not signify much from the Wall street point of view.

$ $ $

The most conservative authorities feel that nothing but an incredible crop failure can check the advance that is now pursuing its irregular course. A bad crop failure might check the market, but such a thing is not considered within the range of possibility. Although the season is a trifle late, the delay is due to the excessive moisture, and there never was a crop failure in America when plenty of rain fell in the Spring. Spring wheat will be planted as late as June 10 in Canada and still make a full crop. Some of the best wheat in Canada is harvested one hundred days after it is planted.

$ $ $

Bargain hunters are picking on Southern Pacific preferred at a hundred-share lots without attracting much attention. This stock can be retired at 115 any time up to July 1, 1910, and is convertible into common stock at any time, at the option of the owner. The only gain in buying it is that the holder may be compelled to convert it into common stock but as the common will soon be paying 7 per cent the possibility holds no terrors. Should the company decide not to call the stock on July 1 of next year, the holder will have a 7 per cent basis with a perpetual call on common stock at par for gain. This should make the Southern Pacific preferred sell at 175 in such a market as this. Brokers say there is very little of the issue afloat. The new convertible bonds selling at par will help Southern Pacific stockholders 1¾ per cent, making their stock pay 7¼ per cent this year, without increase in the regular dividend.

$ $ $

Nothing that is being done in the market has any significance, beyond a technical correction of the situation. The advance has been so great that a reaction was overdue. The enthusiasm created by the Supreme Court decision has stirred up activity that will make it necessary for the leaders to hold the market in check for a time, lest it get beyond control. It is perfectly true that some of the selling is glit-edged. The public is not yet in the market for its Rail run.

$ $ $

Strength of the copper shares attracted attention. One rumor in this connection is that H. H. Rogers had purchased control of the Boston Consolidated Copper in behalf of the Amalgamated. It is impossible to get any confirmation of this report or to discover whether it is part of a manipulative campaign. There is no justification for the present rise of Amalgamated on any other theory than that it intends to go into mining copper by modern methods.

The Amalgamated Copper Company has turned the loss of untold millions on the part of innocent investors, but has done enormous good to the world incidentally. It was the absurd skyrocketing in the price of copper metal two years ago that caused the world-wide development of low-cost producers.

If the Amalgamated Copper Company had held the price of the metal at or just around fifteen or sixteen cents, not half the mines now about ready to produce would ever have been heard of. But twenty-six cent copper inspired activity that promises more to furnish the world with all the metal it will ever need at twenty cents and under. This is a tremendous benefit to all industries, for the world can use billions of pounds of copper a year at twelve cents and under, and there are plenty of mines now ready to produce at these prices. But the Amalgamated stockholders will be heavy losers if they have purchased the stock anywhere near present prices, for that company cannot compete with the new mines that its own activity brought into existence. The Ely and the Bay camps alone can supply so much extra metal in the next two years that the Butte camp could be closed entirely, and the world care nothing about it. Alaska and Peru will bring enormous quantities into the market, not to count the contributions of Japan. The only hope of the Amalgamated Company is to get some of the steam-shovel propositions that have recently been developed.

STEEL SHARES ARE BUOYANT

STATE STREET—Copper stocks acted as if some great weight had been taken off the market and were being allowed to take their natural course. Prices this forenoon were buoyant, and the market continues to show a broadening tendency. Amalgamated sold up to 80, and Copper Range rose to the same price. The former point is but one-half the amount that the latter does.

Other Strong Features.

Arizona Commercial rose 1½ to 45½, and Boston Consolidated 1 to 15¼, after a sharp advance yesterday. Butte Coalition put another point to its credit by touching 27¾. Calumet & Hecla is very bullish on this stock. Gay continued a buyer of Lake Copper and the price reached 72½. North Lake also came in for attention, selling up to 9. Isle Royale rose 1¾ to 27½, and North Butte stiffened 1 to 68. Osceola spurted 4 to 136, and Calumet & Arizona 2 to 104. Firmness characterized the Railroad and Industrial list.

On the Local Curb.

Corbin Copper was the curb exchange feature again to-day, selling up from 9 to 10⅝. First National also displayed a firmer tone, touching 2 13-16. Ohio Copper stiffened ⅛ and Ray Consolidated ⅛ on transactions. Developments were fine at around 40 cents. Otherwise, the list was dull, but firm.

AMALGAMATED STOCK JUMPS

By T. C. SHOTWELL.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Another uplift was seen in the stock market this morning under leadership of Amalgamated Copper, Southern Pacific and Steel. The rise in Amalgamated was due to an unofficial report that the company had decided to buy some modern copper mining company, through which it could produce at a price enabling it to compete with five mining companies.

Southern Pacific was purchased for investment and its advance caused a further rise in Union Pacific. The absorption of Steel shares which has been in progress for weeks was continued by insiders. The preferred sold at a high record price of 120.

One reason for the advance of the Steel shares was the placing by the St. Paul Railroad Company of a contract with the trust for 60,000 tons of rails. This is considered the beginning of big orders.

Among the specialties to show strength were International Pump, which sold near its high record price for the year, Canton Co., Tennessee Copper, Rubber and Virginia-Carolina Chemical. All the standard railroad shares were strong.

London was firm in the American department, but the cables report the high class silver shares and coppers were in active demand.

Boston Consolidated continued its advance begun yesterday. This is the property that rumor says the Amalgamated will purchase. Cotton was slightly bigger and wheat was strong in Chicago.

CUMMINS RAPS STEEL TRUST

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Senator Cummins opened the discussion on the tariff bill when the Senate met to-day. By its own figures Senator Cummins convicted the United States Steel Corporation of gaining in the proposed new tariff 33 1-3 per cent more protection than it needs to market its products in the assurance of earning 6 per cent, on its capitalization.

That same capitalization, conservatively estimated, the Senator declared, is at least 50 per cent. greater than underlying values justify. "Every plant that became a part of the combination in 1901 was valued in an extravagant and exaggerated way," he asserted. "The whole world knows that Carnegie and his associates received four or five times as much as the most imaginative appraiser would have dared to suggest as a valuation."

Senator Cummins believed the iron and steel duties recommended by the Finance Committee should be cut in half. In the interest of conservation he would move that they be reduced one-third.

People Will Condemn Bill.

"The tariff bill now before us," he said, "will not be destroyed by those who have favored a revision of the tariff as either a fulfilment of the party pledge or as a service to the country. Neither this bill or anything substantially like it becomes a law until a majority of the people of the duties will begin the moment the extraordinary session of Congress adjourns, and will continue with increasing zest until the Congress entered in the court of the public conscience is also entered in the journals of Congress.

"I know, Mr. President, that the voices that now are clamoring for an increase of customhouse taxation are more distinct, but in the corridors and in the private necessities of a financial life. The corporation could have sold its entire output in the United States at the prices prevailing in the markets of Europe and would still have made more than 6 per cent. upon its lawful capital. It seems to me that to assert in the light of this history that the steel corporation has any need of protection is to invite the indignation of any right-minded man.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

William L. Bower, twenty years old, of No. 43 Kendall street, Roxbury, to-day goes into Municipal Criminal Court charged with breaking and entering the store of Edward F. Jennigs, No. 952 Tremont street, on the night of January 7. He is also charged with the larceny of a sum of money. Bower was arrested to-day by Special Officer Edward F. Jennings of Station 5.

SUBURBAN REAL ESTATE AGAIN LEADS MARKET

Suburban properties continue to lead in the report of realty sales. In the South End the four-story and basement swell-front brick dwelling house and 2,040 square feet of land at No. 5 Worcester square, near Washington street, assessed for a total of $8,500, have been sold by the Margaret E. Copeland estate to James Y. Vernon. The land is taxed for $4,100.

In Roxbury Emily C. Bunker has sold to A. M. Bunker a frame double house and 5,000 square feet of land on Ottawa street, near Shawmut, assessed for a total of $4,600, of which $1,800 is on the land.

Alice T. Darnell has sold to Arthur J. Houghton the brick house and 1,500 square feet of land at No. 19 Highland Park avenue, near Fort avenue, Roxbury, assessed for $7,600; $600 being on the land.

Dorchester Sales.

In Dorchester the two brick houses and 3,928 square feet of land at Nos. 726-728 Washington street, corner of Roslin street, taxed for $13,900, have been sold by Almon Gunnison to Peter A. Pero. The land is taxed for $2,000.

Mary E. Gaffney has sold 19,347 square feet, at the corner of Quincy and Forth streets, Dorchester, to Henry M. Bowditch, of Huntington Ave., Boston.

Emma L. Wood has sold to Mary A. King the two-story frame dwelling house and 5,000 sq. ft. of land at No. 118 Radcliffe street, near Harvard street, Dorchester, assessed for a total of $3,200, of which $1,200 is on the land.

Emma L. Wood has sold to Mary H. King, Radcliffe street, Dorchester, the two-story frame dwelling house and 5,000 square feet of land at No. 120 Radcliffe street, Dorchester, assessed for $3,000, which has been sold by Catherine Burke et ux. to Wilbur J. Maguire, title passing through Celia Urofsky.

Mary E. Gaffney has sold 19,347 square feet, assessed for $1,900, at the corner of Bellevue and Danville streets, West Roxbury, to Henry M. Bowditch, of Huntington Ave., Boston.

The Boston Redevelopment amendment to the Constitution, permitting classification of property for taxation, of the Boston Real Estate Exchange, is strongly opposed by members of this association. Giving their opinion that none of the present provisions are likely to benefit real estate in Boston.

The committee also reports against the three-cent fare bill, the bill to exempt from taxation the first $5,000 of real estate owned in any city because its income might be reduced, as because of the increase of property values because the investment value to trustees and others who have to pay the full tax on their property, and the testimonials are thereby limited to mortgages, real estate and shares of a few Massachusetts corporations.

Prices Would Fall.

"With the tax on all shares substantially removed and trustees free to invest and alienate classes of investments now impossible, the price of real estate would fall, till its return compared favorably with any other securities in a free market.

"We deem it the full duty of this Exchange to oppose any change of the Constitution."

The report is signed by Messrs. C. F. Adams, 2d, Moses Williams and Leslie C. Wead.

TO THE CITIZENS OF BOSTON:

Every man is competent to form his own opinions when he has the evidence before him.

We ask every citizen of Boston who has been interested in the question of the street lighting contract to go any night to the intersection of Berkeley Street and Commonwealth Avenue and, looking first toward the Public Garden, see $560 worth of the latest gas lamps illuminating one block.

Next, standing in the same spot, turn and look toward Massachusetts Avenue and see another block illuminated by $518 worth of Magnetite Electric street lamps.

Every citizen who will follow this suggestion can unerringly determine for himself, without the aid of any experts whatsoever, the relative amount of light and the relative cost of the lighting as between gas and electricity.

WE ONLY ASK EACH CITIZEN TO JUDGE FOR HIMSELF

City of Boston

Notice to Housekeepers and Tenants in the Dorchester District

On and after MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1909, nothing but GARBAGE, FOOD CANS, and FOOD BOTTLES must be put into the garbage receptacles, and nothing but DUST and ASHES must be put into the receptacles for ashes.

ALL PAPERS, LIGHT WASTE, and other GENERAL REFUSE must be placed in a third receptacle, or, if too bulky, must be tied in bundles to prevent their being scattered in handling, and MUST BE PROTECTED FROM THE WEATHER until collected by the proper authorities.

GENERAL REFUSE includes the following:

Paper, Mattresses,
Rubbish, Old Clothes,
Bottles, Furniture, Boxes,
Rags, Old Shoes and Rubbers,
Wire Cane, Leather and Rubber Scraps,
Excelsior, Carpets,
Straw. Broken Glass, etc.

The Superintendent of Streets of the City of Boston is required to remove ASHES and OTHER REFUSE, and is governed by the following provisions of law:—

1. Act of 1892, Chapter 419, Section 112—All receptacles for ashes, waste and other substances, which by law or ordinance are required to be placed in the street for the collection of the same, shall be used as a convenient or lodging house shall have occasion, and shall be removed from the street by the occupant of the premises, or by the owner or agent of garbage and other refuse matter.

2. Act of 1895, Chapter 449, Section 14—No person shall keep in his house or on his premises any refuse animal matter, except such as is suitable vessel, free from ashes and other refuse matter, and shall remove the same as frequently as the Board of Health may direct.

3. Act of 1906, Chapter 463, Section 17—No person shall throw or deposit in or near any street, square, court, alley, lane or public place, or be liable to cause the, nor mix them with other refuse matter, but shall keep the same in separate vessels, as places as to be easily removed.

Superintendent of Streets, therefore, calls attention to the necessity of keeping ASHES and OTHER REFUSE MATTER as required by law, and gives notice that NO REFUSE WILL BE REMOVED unless protected from the weather, and placed so as to be easily removed, and kept as follows:—

1. ASHES must be kept free from all other refuse matter and in metallic vessels.

2. HOUSE OFFAL or GARBAGE must be kept free from all other refuse matter (except FOOD CANS and FOOD BOTTLES) and in suitable vessels.

3. ALL OTHER REFUSE must be kept free from ashes and garbage and in suitable vessels, or in bundles firmly fastened, so as to prevent the rubbish from being scattered in handling.

GUY C. EMERSON,
Superintendent of Streets.

Have You Seen the New United States Cabinet Photographs?

They Are Interesting—VERY

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

Photographs of Mr. Taft and his Cabinet are pretty well scattered through the land by this time. Photographing the Cabinet is one of the regulation features of every Administration.

Have you happened to see and study the photographs of the men that, with Mr. Taft, will now run this big country?

If so, what do you think about the men? Right up in front you see Mr. Knox. This man is SECRETARY OF STATE OF THE UNITED STATES. He was formerly Attorney-General of the United States. Enforcement of laws against the trusts depended on him.

He was the lawyer for the Steel Trust.

He is the gentleman who had a talk with Mr. Frick, of the Steel Trust, and then advised the killing of the very feeble anti-trust law existing in the country.

A big, good-natured-looking man is Mr. Dickinson, Secretary of War. The Secretary of War decides important matters, even in times of peace. He gives permission to railroads to obstruct waterways, and he gives the railroads contracts for transporting troops, supplies, and so on.

Where did Mr. Dickinson get his training to serve the people as their Secretary of War? HE GOT IT AS LAWYER FOR THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Franklin MacVeagh, is an earnest, good-looking type of the American business man, with white hair and good, clear eyes. He has charge of all the people's money. He is the man to whom the Wall Street people will go when they want a few tens of millions of national money to bolster up their gambling or stock-watering operations.

He is the man who borrows money for the people, paying interest at their expense, and then puts the money in various banks—the people getting no interest on that, and the banks lending it out for as much as the traffic will bear.

Who is he?

Why, he is the gentleman who left the Democratic party and then became a Republican when the Democrats offended Wall Street.

It isn't difficult to guess where his heart is.

And then there is Mr. Wickersham. He is the Attorney-General today. No trust will be disturbed by the United States government unless Mr. Wickersham creates the disturbance.

It may be that Mr. Wickersham will be the greatest defender of the public and regulator of trusts that ever was. But who have been Mr. Wickersham's friends up to now?

One of his friends is the Street Car Trust of Chicago, which paid him $200,000 for ONE SINGLE PIECE OF WORK, and this piece of work occupied him an hour or two a day for twenty days—at the most.

The people pay Mr. Wickersham $12,000 a year to protect them against the trusts, and one single trust paid him $10,000 a day to protect that trust against the people.

Mr. Wickersham may be the very best Attorney-General the people ever had. Let us hope for the best, but not bet on it.

Mr. Meyer is the Secretary of the Navy. Here, as far as we know, [illegible] sistent good work. But when he was at [illegible] epartment he advocated parcels posts.

The establishment of the parcels post system would have helped all the people, hurt the express companies and annoyed various railroad interests. The people would feel happier if it had not seemed necessary to move Mr. Meyer out of the office in which he appeared inclined to do what the people want done.

Mr. Hitchcock takes Mr. Meyer's place in the Post Office Department. He is a good, energetic young man; may he do the work that Mr. Meyer tried to do. And may he be able to forget the contributions that the corporations gave to him during the campaign.

These contributions did not come from the little people that need the parcels post—the lonesome farmers on the rural delivery routes, the small business men hampered by imperfect distribution. Mr. Hitchcock got his money from the big people that want the people kept at their mercy in all important matters, and that DON'T want the post office to make the little man independent of the big man with a parcels post or a savings bank system.

Mr. Hitchcock, however, knows enough about politics to realize that there is a great future for the Postmaster-General who shall really do something for the little man. His record thus far is a good one. He has a chance to make it great. Let us hope that he will take the chance.

On the whole, what is this Cabinet which, with Mr. Taft, is to run this country, presumably in the interests of the people that own it?

Isn't it in reality a parody on the republican form of government? Elihu Root, the lawyer of Tweed and of the biggest corruptionists, is removed from the Secretary of State's office, and in his place appears Mr. Knox, the lawyer of the Steel Trust!

It is conceded that the office of Attorney-General alone could protect the people against the big and powerful men ruling this nation through the corporations. And the man chosen for Attorney-General is an individual who has been working for the big corporations at the rate of $10,000 a day.

The whole thing is more like a chapter from a comic novel than a page from the actual history of a great republic.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

THAT STANDARD OIL FINE

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

As a reader of your paper and an admirer of the various activities in which you are engaged in behalf of good government, I am tempted to inquire from you mirer of the various activities in which the payment by the Standard Oil Company of a money fine to the State of Texas, for the breach of its laws, was considered worthy consideration for the "quietly dropping" the criminal proceedings against the Standard's agent, H. C. Pierce, who, I understand, was but recently extradited from the State of Missouri; or is it the strong hand of Senator Bailey again to the assistance of his "client"?

Of course, a fine of a million or two sounds very formidable, especially when paid in cash and carried in an automobile, with the blast of trumpets. However, wouldn't a few days in jail for the heads of these various persistent lawbreaking bodies be more salutary than the dollar penalty? Very truly yours,

AN INTERESTED READER.

WHY?

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Why is it that in cities quoted by Superintendent of Streets Emerson in defence of the Boston light contract that the latter street lighting one-third cheaper than is offered Boston by Mayor Hibbard's contract? Emerson says the lights here will be better. I happen to know that the lamps in those cities are rated at 2,000 candle power, as here, and that no street lamps, here or elsewhere, ever measure up to the rated candle power. And it will cost the local company but a trifle more for the power. Why is Mayor Hibbard so eager to sign this contract? WHY?

I. M. CURIOUS.

He Gets the Bowling "Bug," but There's Nothing Doing

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

I'D LIKE TO ASK YOU TO GO BOWLING WITH ME TO-NIGHT, BUT I S'POSE YOUR WIFE WON'T LET YOU!
I'LL FIX THAT! I'LL TELL HER I'VE GOT TO SEE THE DOCTOR,— I'VE GOT A BAD COLD!
WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOU!—SNEEZING AND COUGHING ALL THE TIME!
GUESS I'LL GO AND SEE THE DOCTOR— I'VE GOT A TERRIBLE COLD!— KER-CHOO!
DOCTOR, NONSENSE! TAKE OFF YOUR SHOES AND STOCKINGS — I'LL MAKE A MUSTARD FOOT-BATH FOR YOU!
YES, LOVE.
THERE'S NOTHING BETTER THAN A GOOD DOSE OF QUININE!
YES, LOVE.
I'LL PUT THIS POROUS PLASTER ON AND THEN YOU GO TO BED!
YES, LOVE.
YOU'LL FEEL BETTER IN THE MORNING!
YES, LOVE!

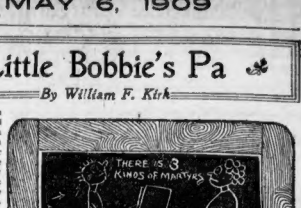
Little Bobbie's Pa

By William F. Kirk



WAT are you reeding, Ma, wen Pa kep still so long. Pa had been reeding for two (2) hours, & he went to the library three (3) times & dident go to the side board onst (1), so Ma asked Pa, Wat have you been reeding? Why is them teers trickling down yure cheeks? asked Ma.

Parding them teers, sed Pa. I did not know that I was so much like a womao. I am reeding Fox's Lives of the Martyrs.

There is three (3) kinds of martyrs, sed Pa. Men which dies at the stake, men wich dies on the gilliteen, & men wich dies to the altar. Of the three (3) kinds, Pa sed, the latter is the worst, beekaus the other two (2) classes cant help themselves. They die like heroes, Pa sed, & the other martyrs, the third class, lives like the cowards wich they are.

If you dount like this marriage thing, sed Ma, why not call it off? I wud, Pa is sed, but I keep thinking of our littel son. Cum over here, Bobbie, & set on my knee wile I read about the Lives of the Martyrs. Lissen to this passage, Pa sed.

With his face raised to the sky, he stood wile the flames writhed around him like devouring serpents. That isent very pleasnt, is it, Bobbie? sed Pa. It sounds like the manager of the Washington Baseball Club, doesnt it, Bobbie?

& here is a other passage, sed Pa. Wen his form was stretched out beneath the awful firmament, they all knew that a other good & gentle man had breethed his last. That is a grate fraze, Bobbie, Pa's sed, his form stretched out beneath the awful firmament. Sumbow, Pa sed, it suggests Pueblo Jim Flynn looking for a soft spot on the canvas.

& here is a other passage, Bobbie, sed Pa. The poor married martyr calm keam promptly on the minit, two (2) minits past six (6) oclock. It was a biter cold nite & the married man was very chilled. He was so chilled that his teeth shook & he was deddly chilled. Were is my dinner, the married man sed, thru his chattering teeth? Were is my food? The wife, for it was indeed her, raised the book wich she had been reeding & flung it full in his face. He dropped like a log. For a moment he struggled to rise, but the awful blow had did its work & he died a martyr. That is a grate passage, Bobbie, sed Pa.

You dount tell me, sed Ma, that you red that passage out of the Lives of the Martyrs?

No, sed Pa, I will be frank for onst (1) in my life. I jumped that passage. Pa sed, but every sentence wich I did say was wrung from my hart. There are martyrs & martyrs, Pa sed, but as I sed beefore, the married martyr is the worst.

How about the married martyress? sed Ma. How about the pashunt woman wich sets thru hour at hoam, sewing up her old corset covers & patching her shirt waists. How about her? sed Ma, the woman wich was onst (1) a young & trusting gurl wich refused to believe wat all the nabors had sed about her bridegroom? How about the young wife wich is the mother of yure child, & only goes to four (4) shows a week, & only has four (4) new gowns & a few tailor suits? I wonder, Ma sed, that you dare to speek to me. How much munny did you draw this week? Ma asked Pa. I suppose not enuff to make a hundred dollars, Ma sed.

On the contrary, Pa sed, I grabbed owerly two hundred dollars this week.

Then Ma laffed & sed to Pa Why, deerest, I was only kidding you. I can never speek to you in anger, Ma sed. You are still the calm brave & tender knight wich wooed & won me in the golden days wen the leeves was crimson, Ma sed. Ware is the two hundred? sed Ma.

Then Pa gave Ma the munny & she laffed enu moar. Pa dident laff.

Success After Failure

Honore de Balzac

By Rev. Thomas B. Gregory

IN the literature of France, if not in that of the world, Balzac is supreme, standing quite alone in his unapproached and unapproachable excellence.

There is that in Balzac to remind us of Dickens, and yet Balzac is as much greater than Dickens as the Amazon is greater than the Thames.

In Balzac, again, we find that which makes us think of Victor Hugo; but not even Victor Hugo is so universal and multiform as Balzac.

Not in all the literature of the world, through all its ages, can "The Human Comedy" be duplicated.

Here and there a writer takes his character, or little bunch of characters, and plays a very pretty tune upon them, but in "The Human Comedy" Balzac takes up all characters, from the ghoul to the philosopher, from the beggar in his rags to the prince in his palace and the king on his throne.

"The Secretary of Society," as he fittingly called himself, Balzac left no type of man unrecorded, but drew up the inventory of "every virtue and every vice."

It took this wonderful secretary of humanity a long time to find himself. Born in 1799 and dying in 1858, he had gone well beyond the halfway point between those dates before he got hold of the cue that was to lead him to his proper vocation.

He first tried the law, but it was soon made plain to him that nature had not intended him for an advocate.

He went into business.

Balzac, as printer, bookseller and typefounder, proved to be a dismal failure. He did not have the business mind.

After several years of honest struggle Balzac quit business with a load of debt on his back that tormented him pretty nearly all his life.

Every really great man is at heart honest, and Balzac's debts gave him a whole lot of trouble. He wanted to pay them, and that he might be able to do so he took to his pen.

He wrote along all lines, wrote incessantly, wrote until even his iron frame seemed to be on the verge of collapse, but the "needful" did not show up except in the most meagre way.

In his garret in the Rue Lesdiguieres he was miserable. It seemed like he was fighting the desperate, hopeless battle in which the odds were against him.

This toil, poverty, misery, lasted for ten years—and then the mighty man, like the Prodigal in the New Testament story, "came to himself," discerned his true destiny and fairly set his face toward the sunrise.

He began "The Human Comedy," the series of matchless novels which were to give him money and glory galore.

The lawyer failed, the business man failed, the hack writer failed, but the "Secretary of Society," the painter of the Great Humanity, was a miracle of success.

As lawyer, business man and hack writer, and, above all, as the desperate wanderer about the streets of the great capital, Balzac had been brought in contact with the "real things" of life, with the good and bad, the glorious and the infamous, in human character, and now he would record it all, to the life, in his immortal stories.

Even genius must have its material to write on, and while he was making his various "failures" Balzac was, unconsciously, perhaps, at the time, laying the foundations upon which, when ready, he was to rear "The Human Comedy"—the most wonderful temple anywhere to be found in the world of letters.

Wicked Senate

SPEAKER CANNON, at a recent dinner in Washington stood up for the Senate.

"You'd think the way the Senate is blamed for everything," he said, "that it had supernatural powers.

"A crowd of farmers were knocking the Senate one market day, when an old fellow of only one horsepower brain hunched into their midst.

"'Well, bye,' said he, 'what's the Senate up to now?'

"'Why, ain't ye heerd, Zachary?' said a young farmer, winking at the others. 'The Senate's went and passed a bill addin' two extra months to the winter.'

"Zachary struck his forehead with his red-mitted fist.

"'D'ye tell it!' he groaned. 'Gosh durn the luck! An' here am I clean out o' fodder.'"

His Destination

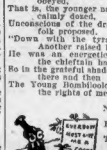
"Give woman the credit she deserves," the suffragette cried, "and where would man be?"

"If she got all the credit she wanted he'd be in the poorhouse," sneered a coarse person in the rear of the hall.

The Lost Cause

By Wex Jones

IN Bombiloo the beautiful, that lovely coral isle,
Where every prospect pleases, the chief was reckoned vile.
Upon the island, understand, all labor is taboo,
For when a man can eat and sleep why chase up things to do?
So when the great Bangaroo decreed that every male
Should weekly pay a cocoanut, there rose a mournful wail,
Though gathering cocoanuts out there is quite a restful job—
You simply lie beneath the palm till one drops on your nob.



The Bombilooloos, as they lay within the moonlight shade,
Agreed the proclamation should never be obeyed.
That is, the younger natives did; the elders calmly dozed,
Unconscious of the drastic acts the junior folk proposed.
"Down with the tyrant!" muttered one.
Another raised the chieftain high.
He was an energetic chap—and wished to be.
So in the grateful shadow was formed right there and then
The Young Bombiloolos' party to uphold the rights of men.

Now, Bangaroo may tremble upon the royal mat,
His heartless edict will provoke an interneciue spat,
The Young Bombiloloo party has Battle in commoved—
The energetic fellow we told you waved his hand—
Yet Bungaroo to-day is chief; he holds his former sway,
And issues edicts in the same old tyrannic way.
For when Batio tried to emulate the conquering Young Turk,
His recruitment party answered, "Oh, war's too much like work."
